Nixon Visits Saigon; 'No More Concessions'

SAIGON (AP) — President Nixon flew to Saigon today and declared the United States and South Vietnam could make no further peace concessions. Later he told U.S. soldiers at a nearby base that the war "may have been our finest hour."

Nixon flew first into the heart of Saigon becoming the first U.S. president to visit South Vietnam's capital. He was accompanied by his wife who made her own bit of history by touring a field hospital and a home for war orphans. No other

First Lady has visited South Vietnam.

Nixon also became the first president to visit a combat base in South Vietnam. He spoke to the American troops at Di An, headquarters of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division 12 miles north of Saigon.

Nixon spent five hours and 25 minutes in Vietnam, much of it in conferences with President Nguyen Van Thieu and other government leaders.

He returned to Bangkok, Thailand, late today aboard the presidential plane and was whisked back to the palace from where he slipped away early in the day to begin his secret-shrouded trip. He will leave Thailand Thursday to continue his round-the-world trip.

In Di An, he pictured the war as worthwhile—even as he called it the most controversial in American history—because, he said, it may lead to the establishment of an enduring peace in Asia.

While meeting Thieu earlier at Saigon's Independence Palace, Nixon issued a statement reciting conciliatory moves and proposals made by Washington and Saigon in an effort to get the Paris peace talks off dead center.

"We have gone as far as we can or should go in opening the doors to negotiations which will bring peace," he said. "It is now time for the other side to sit down with us and talk seriously about ways to stop the killing . . ."

Later when Nixon and Thieu made remarks before television cameras and radio microphones on the steps of Saigon's equivalent of the White House, the U.S. president said it is clear to all the world "which side has gone the extra mile" in an attempt to promote peace.

"Now it is time for the other side to respond," he added, with Thieu at his side.

Nixon said the United States and South Vietnam have made a peace offer "which is as generous as any ever made in the history of warfare."

"It is a peace of reconciliation that is offered," Nixon continued "a peace in which the people will decide, a peace that is just for both sides, a peace which is fair to both sides, a peace which offers an equal chance to both sides."

Without advance notice and under tight security and secrecy Nixon and his wife interrupted a three-day stay in nearby Thailand during their around-the-world trip for the quick dash into South Vietnam by presidential jetliner.

Nixon noted that this was his eighth visit to South Vietnam and that in 1953 he also visited Hanoi, the capital of North Vietnam.

It was the first visit ever by a U.S. president to Saigon, Nixon's visit differed in that respect from the two quick journeys former President Johnson made to the war zone in 1966 and 1967.

Johnson both times flew only into Cam Ranh Bay, a big, highly secure U.S. supply base on the coast some 180 miles from Saigon.

Nixon flew into Tan San Nhut airport at the South Vietnamese capital, then went by helicopter to the heart of the city for a 2½-hour conference with South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu at Independence Palace. The building was an enemy mortar target when former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey visited Saigon in November 1967.

Mrs. Nixon Visits Wounded U.S. Soldiers

SAIGON (AP) — With armed guards and helicopters flying cover, First Lady Pat Nixon made two trips into the South Vietnamese countryside today to cheer soldiers at the 24th Evacuation Field Hospital at Long Binh and visit war orphans.

Her surprise trip with President Nixon made her the first U.S. First Lady to visit the Vietnam war zone.

Mrs. Nixon explained her mission: "I wanted to say hello to the men who are doing so much for us. They're wonderful young men."

She spent 20 minutes shaking hands in three wards where about 40 soldiers were recovering from fevers, wounds and accident injuries.

The president's wife shook their hands, patted the young men lying in rows of hospital beds in blue pajamas. She wished them "good luck" and "God bless you" and the press secretary handed out ball point pens with Mrs. Nixon's autograph on them as souvenirs.

Mrs. Nixon toured the Thu Duc Orphanage near Saigon, where there are 744 war orphans, and visited with them for 45 minutes. The children sang, performed folk dances and she patted them on their heads.

Between her stops at the orphanage and the 24th Evacuation Hospital, Mrs. Nixon spent 1½ hours having tea with Mrs. Nguyen Van Thieu, wife of the Vietnamese president, and Mrs. Nguyen Cao Ky, the vice president's wife, and the wives of other government officials.

Asked if she was afraid of coming to the war zone, Mrs. Nixon replied: "No, I'm protected."

Mrs. Nixon had said earlier she wanted to come to Vietnam "so she could see some of the servicemen and tell them how much people back home appreciate what they are doing for their country," a press spokesman said.

Youngstown Fire Proves Fatal To Woman, 36

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Nancy Warnock, 36, was killed early today in a fire that raged through a Youngstown home.

Miss Warnock's mother, Mrs. Eleanor Warnock, 64, was rescued by policemen who were alerted by a passing motorist. Patrolmen Gerald Ross and Steve Malkovitz crawled through a first-floor window, awakened Mrs. Warnock and helped her to safety.

Miss Warnock's body was found on the floor of her second-floor bedroom, about three feet from a front window which she apparently had been trying to reach.

Firemen said the fire started in Miss Warnock's room and apparently was caused by careless smoking.

Solons Move To Ease Gun Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — A parliamentary gambit, Nixon administration support and crucial shifts in the Senate have given an added push to attempts to rip some key provisions out of last year's Gun Control Act.

Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, announced he had administration backing as he reintroduced a bill Tuesday to remove restrictions covering 90 per cent of the ammunition sold in this country.

Bennett's bill was bolstered by eight cosponsors whose positions represent a change from last year, when they or their predecessors voted with the 41-36 majority in beating back an attempt to exempt shotgun, rifle and .22-caliber rifle ammunition from the act.

The law prohibits a person from buying, either in person or through the mails, any guns or ammunition outside the state in which he lives.

In addition to exempting the ammunition from the law, Bennett's bill would also specify—and in effect cut back—the information required of gun and ammunition buyers.

Bennett has contended requirements by the Internal Revenue Service—which administers the 1968 law—to have buyers provide physical descriptions, weapon caliber and serial number amount to "back door registration."

Administration spokesmen from Treasury, the Justice Department and Internal Revenue Service testified last week against further gun restrictions but stopped short of recommending any deletions from the existing act.

The new bill, rewritten to amend a different section of the law yet accomplish the same purpose, would go to the Senate Finance Committee, chaired by Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., and the House Ways and Means Committee, chaired by Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark.

Mills voted against the final 1968 gun law, which was a product of a House-Senate conference after the House had exempted the ammunition covered in Bennett's bill.

Long did not vote on the final version of the Senate bill, but did vote to exempt the shotgun, rifle and .22 rifle ammunition.

Mariner 6 Pictures Show Mars Polar Cap Roughness

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Mars-bound Mariner 6 has sent to earth long-shot photos showing features new to scientists: ragged edges on the mystery planet's south polar ice cap, perhaps due to mountains or craters, and a dark spot in the cap's center.

Another batch of closer pictures, scheduled for transmission back to earth tonight, may reveal more that is new.

Highlight of the tiny spacecraft's 156-day, 241-million-mile journey comes Thursday when it transmits close-ups after skimming within 2,130 miles of Mars to try to see if the red planet is capable of supporting life.

In three hours across 58 million miles of space Tuesday night, the 850-pound flying instrument platform returned 32 2.3 pictures taken earlier between 771,000 and 450,000 miles altitude.

Most of the shots, shown at five-minute intervals on television monitors at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory, were dim and fuzzy, depicting an egg-shaped body with the south polar cap gleaming on the right side. Few features were distinguishable.

Nixon Plans Monday Push For Surtax

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has reached from half-way around the world in an attempt at pressuring the Senate into extending the income surtax, in danger of dying at midnight Thursday.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said Tuesday night he had been in communication with Nixon in Thailand. The President "is deeply concerned by the inability of the Senate to act and the injury this threatens to every citizen," Agnew said.

"He intends to discuss these matters frankly and fully with the American people upon his return Monday," the vice president went on. An aide said Nixon might go on radio and television at that time to get the public behind him.

Prior to the statement by Agnew, who canceled a West Coast speaking engagement today to be on hand to fight for extension, the surtax appeared the probable victim of a Democratic Senate deadlock.

The temporary extension of payroll withholding rates including the surtax expires at midnight Thursday, and both sides in the dispute agree if this happens it will be very difficult to revive the surcharge.

The Senate Democratic Policy Committee held firm Tuesday on its proposal for a five-month extension of the surtax, rather than the one-year plan of the administration. The Democrats said their proposal would give the Senate time to work out a broad tax reform bill which they say must accompany continuation of the surtax.

And the Democrats turned the screws tighter by announcing they would not consider a 15-day extension of the paycheck withholding rates which the House approved Tuesday.

The frames were made 10,000 miles apart and as the final flash on screen, landmarks well known to astronomers from telescopic photographs from earth came into prominence.

The ragged cap edge became visible on frame 29, causing a laboratory spokesman to comment: "Perhaps the most exciting result is that some pictures show a ragged edge on the southern polar cap, possibly caused by the presence of mountains or craters. This is new information."

The cap's dark spot, which the spokesman said had not been noted before and which he could not explain, showed on frame 30. Another feature of final shots was that the north polar cap, barely visible in early pictures, stood out brightly.

Experts at the laboratory, which built Mariner and controlled its flight, had expected the photos to be about equal in quality to those from earth telescopes. But they failed to match in clarity a simulation of earth pictures that was flashed on a monitor screen for comparison.

Israeli Jets Pound Arabs

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Israeli jets crossed the Syrian and Lebanese frontiers today to hit Arab guerrilla concentrations in the foothills of Mt. Hermon, the army announced.

The 15-minute air attack was in response to a recent increase in sabotage activity in the area, a spokesman said.

The army spokesman listed eight incidents of sabotage in the region since July 1.

This was the first reported air attack inside Lebanon by the Israelis since they attacked the international airport at Beirut, Lebanon's capital, last December in retaliation for an attack on an Israeli jetliner in Greece by Palestinian guerrillas.

Lebanon has sought to discourage the training of Arab guerrillas on its territory for fear of Israeli retaliation. Half-Christian, half-Muslim Lebanon has tried to remain out of the Middle East conflict as much as possible while publicly defending the Arab stand against Israel.

Supreme Court Eyes Obscenity

First Big Test Of 'Mailbox Law'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The battle over sex through the mails has moved into the Supreme Court with the first test of the government's power to guard mailboxes against "pandering" advertisements.

A group of mailers who traffic in "adult" books, magazines, films and sex paraphernalia leveled a series of constitutional objections at the 1967 law that gave citizens the right to control their mail.

The mailers' appeal is important for several reasons: (1) It could lead to a ruling killing the 1967 law; (2) It could dampen Congress' willingness to enact even stronger legislation proposed in May by the Nixon administration; (3) It poses the first important test of the Burger court's view of obscenity.

The 1967 law provides that any person who receives an advertisement he believes to be "erotically arousing" or "sexually provocative" may ask his local postmaster to direct the advertiser to stop sending mail to him.

If the advertiser refuses to strike the name from his mailing list, the local U.S. attorney may move for an injunction. If the advertiser disobeys an injunction he may be held in contempt of court.

The law took effect April 15, 1968. Since then, the Post Office has issued about 10,000 orders to mailers to knock certain people off their mailing lists. Only once so far, in New York City, has the government moved into court to try to enforce the law.

That case, directed at ads for "Dynamic Intercourse" and "Voodoo Eros," is still unsettled.

Winton M. Blount, the postmaster general, told Congress earlier this month advertisements for hard-core pornography are growing rapidly.

Girl Guides Get New 'Uniforms' At United Nations

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The United Nations displayed a new uniform for its 100 girl guides which it said took months of preparation. Some of the girls seemed to question if it was worth the bother.

The uniform features a royal blue miniskirt, white blouse with full-length sleeves and a deep, wide collar, and a long, sleeveless Pilgrim-style tunic in gold with brass buttons. The fabrics are dacron and wool.

Some of the guides called it "deglamorizing" and said they would have to shape the tunics to their figures to offset that. "Some of us have had to shorten the skirt," said Soheila Garrett, an attractive Iranian guide.

It replaces the bright blue dress with white ascot worn by the young, multinational and multilingual guides for the past 18 months. That one shrank, said the girls.

Midway Chatter

Tom Skinner, 15-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Skinner, Route 3, was injured at 12:20 p.m. Tuesday at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds when he was thrown from his horse.

Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Robert Hoover, who was manning the mobile emergency unit that belongs to the Auxiliary Sheriff's Assn., said that Skinner was taken to Berger Hospital and transferred immediately to Children's Hospital, Columbus.

Suffering from a bad head injury, he is reported in "fair" condition today by authorities there. Sandy Beckman, who saw the accident, said that Tom was riding between two trees. He started to fall, managed to hold on but the horse shied and threw him to the ground. Miss Beckman said it looked like the horse then stepped on him.

There was a rather scant crowd in the grandstands to watch Tuesday's harness racing program, in spite of a give-away drawing for grandstand admission ticket holders. Sponsored by the fair board, the give-away is designed to increase attendance.

If all the "rail birds" had bought tickets, there would have been a goodly number of fans in the grandstand.

Winning door prizes yesterday were Ralph Delay, Orient, Route 2; Mrs. Norman MacNeil, Walnut Creek Pike; and Glenn Conrad, 122 Pleasant St. Delay won a gift certificate donated by Ward's Market. Mrs. MacNeil a portable AM-FM radio donated by the fair board and Conrad two season passes donated by Scioto Downs. A similar drawing will be held today, in addition to the bicycle give away held in conjunction with the pet parade.

Greenfield Torture Brings 3 Arrests

GREENFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Three juveniles, taken into custody Tuesday, face a hearing Aug. 5, in connection with the torturing of 15-year-old Michael Gillenwater of Greenfield.

Michael was being treated at Municipal Hospital for first, second and third-degree burns of both feet and ankles suffered Monday night when four teenagers tied him to a post, sprinkled gasoline around his feet and set it on fire. The fourth youth was being sought.

Report High Alcohol In Rev. A. D. King

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Rev. A. D. King, 38-year-old brother of the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., had been drinking before he died of drowning in a pool at his home July 21, the Fulton county medical examiner says.

The examiner, Dr. Tom Dillon, reported Tuesday tests showed King's blood had an alcohol content of 0.27 per cent, or three times the quantity needed for a drunken driving conviction under state law.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said Tuesday night he had been in communication with Nixon in Thailand. The President "is deeply concerned by the inability of the Senate to act and the injury this threatens to every citizen," Agnew said.

"He intends to discuss these matters frankly and fully with the American people upon his return Monday," the vice president went on. An aide said Nixon might go on radio and television at that time to get the public behind him.

Prior to the statement by Agnew, who canceled a West Coast speaking engagement today to be on hand to fight for extension, the surtax appeared the probable victim of a Democratic Senate deadlock.

The temporary extension of payroll withholding rates including the surtax expires at midnight Thursday, and both sides in the dispute agree if this happens it will be very difficult to revive the surcharge.

The Senate Democratic Policy Committee held firm Tuesday on its proposal for a five-month extension of the surtax, rather than the one-year plan of the administration. The Democrats said their proposal would give the Senate time to work out a broad tax reform bill which they say must accompany continuation of the surtax.

And the Democrats turned the screws tighter by announcing they would not consider a 15-day extension of the paycheck withholding rates which the House approved Tuesday.

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Israeli jets crossed the Syrian and Lebanese frontiers today to hit Arab guerrilla concentrations in the foothills of Mt. Hermon, the army announced.

The 15-minute air attack was in response to a recent increase in sabotage activity in the area, a spokesman said.

The army spokesman listed eight incidents of sabotage in the region since July 1.

This was the first reported air attack inside Lebanon by the Israelis since they attacked the international airport at Beirut, Lebanon's capital, last December in retaliation for an attack on an Israeli jetliner in Greece by Palestinian guerrillas.

Lebanon has sought to discourage the training of Arab guerrillas on its territory for fear of Israeli retaliation. Half-Christian, half-Muslim Lebanon has tried to remain out of the Middle East conflict as much as possible while publicly defending the Arab stand against Israel.

Supreme Court Eyes Obscenity

First Big Test Of 'Mailbox Law'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The battle over sex through the mails has moved into the Supreme Court with the first test of the government's power to guard mailboxes against "padding" advertisements.

A group of mailers who traffic in "adult" books, magazines, films and sex paraphernalia leveled a series of constitutional objections at the 1967 law that gave citizens the right to control their mail.

The mailers' appeal is important for several reasons: (1) It could lead to a ruling killing the 1967 law; (2) It could dampen Congress' willingness to enact even stronger legislation proposed in May by the Nixon administration; (3) It poses the first important test of the Burger court's view of obscenity.

The 1967 law provides that any person who receives an advertisement he believes to be "erotically arousing" or "sexually provocative" may ask his local postmaster to direct the advertiser to stop sending mail to him.

If the advertiser refuses to strike the name from his mailing list, the local U.S. attorney may move for an injunction. If the advertiser disobeys an injunction he may be held in contempt of court.

The law took effect April 15, 1968. Since then, the Post Office has issued about 10,000 orders to mailers to knock certain people off their mailing lists. Only once so far, in New York City, has the government moved into court to try to enforce the law.

That case, directed at ads for "Dynamic Intercourse" and "Voodoo Eros," is still unsettled.

Winton M. Blount, the postmaster general, told Congress earlier this month advertisements for hard-core pornography are growing rapidly.

Girl Guides Get New 'Uniforms' At United Nations

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The United Nations displayed a new uniform for its 100 girl guides which it said took months of preparation. Some of the girls seemed to question if it was worth the bother.

The uniform features a royal blue miniskirt, white blouse with full-length sleeves and a deep, wide collar, and a long, sleeveless Pilgrim-style tunic in gold with brass buttons. The fabrics are dacron and wool.

"Some of the guides called it 'deglamorizing'" and said they would have to shape the tunics to their figures to offset that. "Some of us have had to shorten the skirt," said Soheila Garrett, an attractive Iranian guide.

It replaces the bright blue dress with white ascot worn by the young, multinational and multilingual guides for the past 18 months. That one shrank, said the girls.

Midway Chatter

Tom Skinner, 15-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Skinner, Route 3, was injured at 12:20 p.m. Tuesday at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds when he was thrown from his horse.

Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Robert Hoover, who was manning the mobile emergency unit that belongs to the Auxiliary Sheriff's Assn., said that Skinner was taken to Berger Hospital and transferred immediately to Children's Hospital, Columbus.

Suffering from a bad head injury, he is reported in "fair" condition today by authorities

there. Sandy Beckman, who saw the accident, said that Tom was riding between two trees. He started to fall, managed to hold on but the horse shied and threw him to the ground, Miss Beckman said it looked like the horse then stepped on him.

There was a rather scant crowd in the grandstands to watch Tuesday's harness racing program, in spite of a give-away drawing for grandstand admission ticket holders. Sponsored by the fair board, the give-away is designed to increase attendance.

If all the "rail birds" had bought tickets, there would have been a goodly number of fans in the grandstand.

Winning door prizes yesterday were Ralph Delay, Orient, Route 2; Mrs. Norman MacNeil, Walnut Creek Pike, and Glenn Conrad, 122 Pleasant St. Delay won a gift certificate donated by Ward's Market. Mrs. MacNeil a portable AM-FM radio donated by the fair board and Conrad two season passes donated by Scioto Downs. A similar drawing will be held today, in addition to the bicycle give away held in conjunction with the pet parade.

Michael was being treated at Municipal Hospital for first, second and third-degree burns of both feet and ankles suffered Monday night when four teenagers tied him to a post, sprinkled gasoline around his feet and set it on fire. The fourth youth was being sought.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The rebuilt Egyptian air force's first attempt to challenge Israeli air superiority since the Middle East war two years ago has failed, U.S. analysts say.

As a result, analysts say they believe the United Arab Republic lacks the air power necessary to support a major ground attack across the Suez Canal into the Sinai.

Instead, military experts forecast the UAR will concentrate in the months ahead on intensified local attacks on Israeli positions along the Suez Canal and on low level, hit-and-run air strikes with shallow penetration of Israeli air space.

This is seen as the significance of about two weeks of heavy air fighting in the Suez Canal area—fighting accompanied by new threats by Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

In substance, the U.S. experts feel the Russians have succeeded in re-equipping the shattered Egyptian air force and training substantial numbers of new pilots who, however, still fall short of matching the Israeli air force in combat.

The U.S. assessments, gathered from a variety of sources, coincide with the judgments expressed by Israeli military officers stationed here. Egyptian military sources were not available and Syrian spokesmen refused to discuss military matters.

Surveying the outcome of recent air combat between the key Middle Eastern adversaries—the Israelis and the Egyptians—one U.S. general said: "The Egyptians obviously don't think they are strong enough to launch any major ground assault. "I can't conceive that they would dare cross the canal in force unless they had at least an even break in the air, which they don't have."

The Russians have spent an estimated $2 billion since the summer of 1967 to refit the Arab armies and air forces, particularly the UAR and Syrian military establishments, and to retrain troops and officer corps.

According to the latest intelligence information, the Arab countries outnumber the Israelis in military aircraft by 1,000 to about 350, in tanks about 2,500 to 1,000 and in men under arms about 445,000 to some 80,000. However, Israel can mobilize its reservists in 72 hours and raise its forces to about 275,000.

The Russians have provided the UAR air force with more SU7 ground attack planes than they had before the six-day war, and this is considered important in battlefield support of infantry and armor.

The bulk of the Egyptian fighter force of some 330 planes include the well regarded (Continued on Page 18)

(Continued from Page 1) proposal, introduced in February, had 24 sponsors. The new bill listed 37, including four senators whose endorsement constituted a switch from their 1968 position and four freshmen whose endorsement reversed the stand taken by the men they replaced.

"The purpose of the Gun Control Act of 1968 was to help prevent crime and acts of violence," said one of the men who switched, assistant Senate GOP Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania.

"It was not intended to restrict or harass sportsmen," he said in a speech prepared for the Senate today. "But in fact, law-abiding citizens are suffering unnecessary inconveniences and burdens because of the interpretation of the act by the Treasury Department."

Joining Scott in endorsing the exemption were former opponents Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Democrat Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma, and Republican James B. Pearson of Kansas.

The freshmen cosponsors whose predecessors voted against exemption were Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa.; William B. Saxton, R-Ohio; Robert Packwood, R-Ore.; and James B. Allen, D-Ala.

Scott and Bennett urged passage of the exemption and revision of the information provisions before the 1969 hunting season opens.

Pilot Subdues Plane Hijacker

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — A man in woman's clothing tried to hijack a Nicaraguan airliner with 35 passengers aboard Tuesday night after slugging the pilot with his gun. But the pilot fought back and subdued his attacker.

Police said 24-year-old Carlos Jose Guadamuz broke into the cabin of a plane en route from Managua to the Nicaraguan coast. He ordered pilot Carlos Salinas to fly to Cuba, then announced over the intercom that he was diverting the plane in the name of Augusto Sandino, an early 20th century leftist.

Local Farmer Participates In AIC Event

J. Roger Schneider, Circleville, has been selected to take a prominent part in the 1969 Youth Scholar Program of the 41st annual national farm business conference of the American Institute of Cooperation at the University of Illinois, Urbana, Ill., Aug. 3-6.

He will be the VIP representative of the Young Cooperators - National Milk Producers Federation.

With U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin as keynote speaker, the theme of the three-day meeting will be "Cooperatives: A Positive Force," according to Dr. Walter Jacoby, A.I.C. Director of Youth Education.

The conference is the largest U.S. annual gathering on farm business opportunities and techniques, drawing over 3,500 leaders of farm business, credit, production, marketing, agricultural extension and rural education, including an expected 1,000 farm youth and young farmers who will participate in their own speaking and discussion programs.

Youth delegates will hear about latest decisions and problems of farm business organizations, engage in panel discussions on ways to be successful in farming and other careers in agribusiness and on how to utilize farm purchasing and marketing services. They will study the American Business System and the future of cooperatives in the private enterprise system. They will meet heads of U.S. rural youth groups to swap personal experiences.

The Institute is chartered as a "University" in Washington D.C., and is the educational and research organization for farm cooperatives. It meets each summer on the campus of a prominent Land-Grant College.

Stocks Skid Below 800

NEW YORK (AP) — An important psychological level was pierced today as the stock market declined sharply, carrying the Dow Jones industrial average through the 800 mark.

Trading early this afternoon was fairly active. Declines led advances by nearly 700 issues.

At noon, the closely-watched DJI was off 9.11 at 792.85. The last time the indicator closed below 800 was Jan. 4, 1967, when it closed at 791.14. It has been falling steadily since reaching its 1969 closing high of 968.85 on May 14.

"The breakthrough of the 800, like other hundred levels on the DJI, does have an important psychological significance for some investors," an analyst said. "When you penetrate such a level it has a bearish significance for some and you get some selling."

Another analyst said the DJI's action "underscores the bearish tone of the market," adding that "the market might try to rally again, but the key question is will it follow-through." The market made a technical advance early Tuesday, but it faded in later trading and the session closed with a loss.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was off 2.5 at 282.3, industrials off 5.8, rails off 7, and utilities off 1.

Westates Petroleum, most-active on the American Stock Exchange, was up 3/4 at 20.

Among other active Amex issues, Cinerama was off 9/16; Four Seasons Nursing, off 1/4 at 51; Supescope, up 1/4 at 21 1/2; Canadian Homestead Oils, up 1/4 at 19; and Dixilyn Corp., up 1/4 at 22 1/2.

An order for the impoundment of a dog owned by a Gooding Amusement Co. electrician was signed Wednesday morning by Acting Common Pleas Judge Guy Cline.

The order was signed at the request of Attorney Robert Huffer representing T. D. Van Camp, 585 Ridgewood Drive.

Van Camp's six-year-old son was bitten by the dog, owned by Terry Berg, on Sunday while at the Pickaway County Fair.

Berg refused to release the dog for observation to determine if it had rabies which prompted Van Camp to file the action.

Capitol Police Save Dirksen From Irate Illinois Farmers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Capitol police plucked Sen. Everett M. Dirksen from the midst of shouting, fist-shaking farmers Tuesday, ending a confrontation over protests that U.S. farm policies are leading to rural ruin.

The 200 farmers, wives and children—who drove from Illinois, Dirksen's home state, in a caravan of tractors—surrounded the Republican leader as he emerged from the Senate chamber.

They demanded a return to full parity in farm prices and a stronger voice for farmers on all future federal agricultural policies.

When Dirksen told his constituents he is one of 20 senators supporting a bill to take up to 10 million acres of farmland out of production and to end existing farm programs within five years, he was answered with shouts of, "No! No!"

The shouting got louder when he responded to a request that he buy a bushel of grain at the parity price—$3.06 compared to about the present market value of about $1.05—by pulling a $20 bill from his wallet. He told the farmers to give the change and the wheat to the poor.

"We want parity, not charity," the farmers shouted, echoing the slogan that has been their rallying cry during the long trek from their east central Illinois homes.

"I'm talking," Dirksen boomed back, refusing to accept the return of the money or the sacks of grain piled at his feet.

750 More American Gls Leave Vietnam

Move Coincides With Slight Rise In Red Activity

SAIGON (AP) — Another 750 American troops left Vietnam today under President Nixon's plan to cut back U.S. strength by 25,000 men by the end of August.

The 4th Battalion, 39th Infantry of the 9th Infantry Division boarded planes at Bien Hoa air base north of Saigon for Hawaii. It will be held in ready reserve there at Schofield Barracks.

The battalion, now commanded by Maj. Ronald W. Crooks, of Albany, Calif., had been in Vietnam since Jan. 3, 1967.

The U.S. Command said the latest departure raised to 7,400 the number of American servicemen withdrawn from Vietnam since Nixon announced the cutoff June 8.

The withdrawal coincided with some increase of fighting in provinces around Saigon although the general lull in sustained ground action and enemy attacks moved into its seventh week today.

The biggest fight reported during the past 24 hours centered 30 miles west of Saigon and only four miles from the Cambodian border, along a key infiltration route.

U.S. infantrymen from the 25th Division and South Vietnamese irregulars reported 63 enemy soldiers and nine Americans killed in an eight-hour fight Tuesday. Ten Americans were wounded.

South Vietnamese casualties were reported light.

The American infantrymen swept in by helicopter to reinforce government reconnaissance troops who had run into North Vietnamese bunkers.

Twelve hours earlier other troops from the 25th Division killed 53 enemy soldiers in the same general area.

The U.S. Command reported that there were 11 rocket and mortar attacks across South Vietnam during the 24-hour period which ended at 8 a.m. Wednesday.

Two of these attacks were against U.S. units or installations but caused no American casualties, headquarters reported.

Pacemaker Is Removed So Man Dies

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — An Akron woman says doctors had to remove an artificial pacemaker from her father's heart this week before the man could be declared officially dead.

Mrs. Charles Souter said the electronic device kept the heart beating in the chest of her father, James R. Iglehart, Monday after breathing and other life signs indicated he was dead.

Doctors at the hospital refused to comment on the case, but it was reported to be one of the first such cases at the hospital.

The pacemaker, designed to maintain a normal heartbeat if the patient is stricken with heart trouble had been installed in Iglehart's chest two weeks earlier.

Mrs. Souter said the pacemaker would have stopped eventually, but "the doctors took it out so my dad could be declared officially dead and go to sleep peacefully."

School - Tax Bill Changes Rejected By Ohio House

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A conference committee begins working out today a compromise on Senate and House versions of the administration's $2.27 billion education-tax bill.

Tuesday night the House refused to concur with 85 Senate amendments to the bill. The vote was 53-25. The Senate passed the omnibus bill last Friday.

The head of the House Education Committee, Rep. Mark C. Schinnerer, R - 49 Lakewood, recommended that the bill be sent to conference because there were 54 major areas of change.

"To say it's been substantially changed would be the understatement of the day," Schinnerer said.

The education chairman departed from usual procedure and announced that his committee would meet today "to review the bill."

After a bill is sent to a conference committee, it is not usually considered again by a standing committee.

The Senate has scheduled a floor vote today on a bill to extend Ohio's open housing law to cover the sale or rental of one and two family residences.

The House originally defeated the bill, but finally passed a stronger bill to allow for court intervention on discrimination complaints.

In legislative action Tuesday night, the Senate adopted and sent to the House two companion bills to allow the state to begin spending $500 million for highways.

It passed 27-2 a bill to authorize the issuing of $300 million of highway bonds during the 1969-71 biennium.

Highway construction, engineering and right-of-way costs would be allocated $262 million, the Transportation Research and Development Center near Bellefontaine, $30 million and roads leading to public parks and recreational areas, $8 million.

The $300 million comes from the $500 million in highway bonds approved by voters last November in State Issue No. 1.

The bond issue provided that not more than $100 million of bonds could be issued in one year and that half of the $500 million would have to be spent to help alleviate urban traffic bottlenecks.

The bill included an emergency clause which makes it effective upon the governor's signature.

The second highway bill, which establishes a distribution formula for the use of the $250 million earmarked for urban bottlenecks, passed 26-0.

The formula is based 75 per cent on a county's population and 25 per cent on its miles of highways.

The bill includes minimum guarantees of construction funds for small counties.

In the House, a bill to require immunization against German measles for children starting school passed 83-0.

The House also passed 74-5 a bill providing insurance protection for student teachers. It is similar to a law providing insurance for regular teachers.

He said his bill, which is backed by the American Farm Bureau Federation, would raise farm prices by cutting back production.

"What's wrong with a farm program tied to parity," a farmer in overalls shouted. "We'll take the land out of production now if you give us a fair price," another man said.

"We can't hold a farm meeting in this reception room," Dirksen said, waving his hand at the ornate crystal chandeliers and gilded walls.

"You can't make a demonstration here," he told the crowd that jammed the room. "It will disturb the Senate."

"Don't push us around," a man yelled at Dirksen.

The noise attracted capitol police who wedged their way through the throng and opened a path for Dirksen to retreat to the Senate floor, where his colleagues were debating the surtax bill.

proposal, introduced in February, had 24 sponsors. The new bill listed 37, including four senators whose endorsement constituted a switch from their 1968 position and four freshmen whose endorsement reversed the stand taken by the men they replaced.

"The purpose of the Gun Control Act of 1968 was to help prevent crime and acts of violence," said one of the men who switched, assistant Senate GOP Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania.

"It was not intended to restrict or harass sportsmen," he said in a speech prepared for the Senate today. "But in fact, law-abiding citizens are suffering unnecessary inconveniences and burdens because of the interpretation of the act by the Treasury Department."

Joining Scott in endorsing the exemption were former opponents Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Democrat Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma, and Republican James B. Pearson of Kansas.

The freshmen cosponsors who are predecessors voted against exemption were William S. Schweiker, R-Pa.; Richard B. Saxe, R-Ohio; Robert Packwood, R-Ore.; and James B. Allen, D-Ala.

Scott and Bennett urged passage of the exemption and revision of the information provisions before the 1969 hunting season opens.

Pilot Subdues Plane Hijacker

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — A man in woman's clothing tried to hijack a Nicaraguan airliner with 35 passengers aboard Tuesday night after slugging the pilot with his gun. But the pilot fought back and subdued his attacker.

Police said 24-year-old Carlos Jose Guadamuz broke into the cabin of a plane en route from Managua to the Nicaraguan coast. He ordered pilot Carlos Salinas to fly to Cuba, then announced over the intercom that he was diverting the plane in the name of Augusto Sandino, an early 20th century leftist.

Local Farmer Participates In AIC Event

J. Roger Schneider, Circleville, has been selected to take a prominent part in the 1969 Youth Scholar Program of the 41st annual national farm business conference of the American Institute of Cooperation at the University of Illinois, Urbana, Ill., Aug. 3-6.

He will be the VIP representative of the Young Cooperators - National Milk Producers Federation.

With U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin as keynote speaker, the theme of the three-day meeting will be "Cooperatives: A Positive Force," according to Dr. Walter Jacoby, A.I.C. Director of Youth Education.

The conference is the largest U.S. annual gathering on farm business opportunities and techniques, drawing over 3,500 leaders of farm business, credit, production, marketing, agricultural extension and rural education, including an expected 1,000 farm youth and young farmers who will participate in their own speaking and discussion programs.

Youth delegates will hear about latest decisions and problems of farm business organizations, engage in panel discussions on ways to be successful in farming and other careers in agribusiness and on how to utilize farm purchasing and marketing services. They will study the American Business System and the future of cooperatives in the private enterprise system. They will meet heads of U.S. rural youth groups to swap personal experiences.

The Institute is chartered as a "University" in Washington D.C., and is the educational and research organization for farm cooperatives. It meets each summer on the campus of a prominent Land-Grant College.

Stocks Skid Below 800

NEW YORK (AP) — An important psychological level was pierced today as the stock market declined sharply, carrying the Dow Jones industrial average through the 800 mark.

Trading early this afternoon was fairly active. Declines led advances by nearly 700 issues.

At noon, the closely-watched DJI was off 9.11 at 792.85. The last time the indicator closed below 800 was Jan. 4, 1967, when it closed at 791.14. It has been falling steadily since reaching its 1969 closing high of 908.85 on May 14.

"The breakthrough of the 800, like other hundred levels on the DJI, does have an important psychological significance for some investors," an analyst said. "When you penetrate such a level it has a bearish significance for some and you get some selling."

Another analyst said the DJI's action "underscores the bearish tone of the market," adding that "the market might try to rally again, but the key question is will it follow-through." The market made a technical advance early Tuesday, but it faded in later trading and the session closed with a loss.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was off 2.5 at 282.3, industrials off 5.8, rails off 7, and utilities off 1.

Westates Petroleum, most-active on the American Stock Exchange, was up 1/4 at 20.

Among other active Amex issues, Cinerama was off at 95; Four Seasons Nursing, off 1/2 at 51; Superscope, up 1 at 21 1/2; Canadian Homestead Oils, up 1/2 at 19; and Dixilyn Corp., up 1/4 at 22 1/2.

Court Orders Dog Impounded

An order for the impoundment of a dog owned by a Gooding Amusement Co. electrician was signed Wednesday morning by Acting Common Pleas Judge Guy Cline.

The order was signed at the request of Attorney Robert Huffer representing T. D. Van Camp, 585 Ridgewood Drive.

Van Camp's six-year-old son was bitten by the dog, owned by Terry Berg, on Sunday while at the Pickaway County Fair.

Berg refused to release the dog for observation to determine if it had rabies which prompted Van Camp to file the action.

Capitol Police Save Dirksen From Irate Illinois Farmers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Capitol police plucked Sen. Everett M. Dirksen from the midst of shouting, fist-shaking farmers Tuesday, ending a confrontation over protests that U.S. farm policies are leading to rural ruin.

The 200 farmers, wives and children—who drove from Illinois, Dirksen's home state, in a caravan of tractors—surrounded the Republican leader as he emerged from the Senate chamber.

They demanded a return to full parity in farm prices and a stronger voice for farmers on all future federal agricultural policies.

When Dirksen told his constituents he is one of 20 senators supporting a bill to take up to 10 million acres of farmland out of production and to end existing farm programs within five years, he was answered with shouts of, "No! No!"

The shouting got louder when he responded to a request that he buy a bushel of grain at the parity price—$3.06 compared to about the present market value of about $1.05—by pulling a $20 bill from his wallet. He told the farmers to give the change and the wheat to the poor.

"We want parity, not charity," the farmers shouted, echoing the slogan that has been their rallying cry during the long trek from their east central Illinois homes.

"I'm talking," Dirksen boomed back, refusing to accept the return of the money or the sacks of grain piled at his feet.

He said his bill, which is backed by the American Farm Bureau Federation, would raise farm prices by cutting back production.

"What's wrong with a farm program tied to parity," a farmer in overalls shouted. "We'll take the land out of production now if you give us a fair price," another man said.

"We can't hold a farm meeting in this reception room," Dirksen said, waving his hand at the ornate crystal chandeliers and gilded walls.

"You can't make a demonstration here," he told the crowd that jammed the room. "It will disturb the Senate."

"Don't push us around," a man yelled at Dirksen.

The noise attracted capitol police who wedged their way through the throng and opened a path for Dirksen to retreat to the Senate floor, where his colleagues were debating the surtax bill.

750 More American Gls Leave Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — Another 750 American troops left Vietnam today under President Nixon's plan to cut back U.S. strength by 25,000 men by the end of August.

The 4th Battalion, 39th Infantry of the 9th Infantry Division boarded planes at Bien Hoa air base north of Saigon for Hawaii. It will be held in ready reserve there at Schofield Barracks.

The battalion, now commanded by Maj. Ronald W. Crooks, of Albany, Calif., had been in Vietnam since Jan. 3, 1967.

The U.S. Command said the latest departure raised to 7,400 the number of American servicemen withdrawn from Vietnam since Nixon announced the cutoff June 8.

The withdrawal coincided with some increase of fighting in provinces around Saigon although the general lull in sustained ground action and enemy attacks moved into its seventh week today.

The biggest fight reported during the past 24 hours centered 30 miles west of Saigon and only four miles from the Cambodian border, along a key infiltration route.

U.S. infantrymen from the 25th Division and South Vietnamese irregulars reported 63 enemy soldiers and nine Americans killed in an eight-hour fight Tuesday. Ten Americans were wounded.

South Vietnamese casualties were reported light.

The American infantrymen swept in by helicopter to reinforce government reconnaissance troops who had run into North Vietnamese bunkers.

Twelve hours earlier troops from the 25th Division killed 53 enemy soldiers in the same general area.

The U.S. Command reported that there were 11 rocket and mortar attacks across South Vietnam during the 24-hour period which ended at 8 a.m. Wednesday.

Two of these attacks were against U.S. units or installations but caused no American casualties, headquarters reported.

Pacemaker Is Removed So Man Dies

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — An Akron woman says doctors had to remove an artificial pacemaker from her father's heart this week before the man could be declared officially dead.

Mrs. Charles Souter said the electronic device kept the heart beating in the chest of her father, James R. Iglehart, Monday after breathing and other life signs indicated he was dead.

Doctors at the hospital refused to comment on the case, but it was reported to be one of the first such cases at the hospital.

The pacemaker, designed to maintain a normal heartbeat if the patient is stricken with heart trouble had been installed in Iglehart's chest two weeks earlier.

Mrs. Souter said the pacemaker would have stopped eventually, but "the doctors took it out so my dad could be declared officially dead and go to sleep peacefully."

School - Tax Bill Changes Rejected By Ohio House

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A conference committee begins working out today a compromise on Senate and House versions of the administration's $2.27 billion education-tax bill.

Tuesday night the House refused to concur with 85 Senate amendments to the bill. The vote was 53-25. The Senate passed the omnibus bill last Friday.

The head of the House Education Committee, Rep. Mark C. Schinnerer, R - 49 Lakewood, recommended that the bill be sent to conference because there were 54 major areas of change.

To say it's been substantially changed would be an understatement of the day," Schinnerer said.

The education chairman departed from usual procedure and announced that his committee would meet today "to review the bill."

After a bill is sent to a conference committee, it is not usually considered again by a standing committee.

The Senate has scheduled a floor vote today on a bill to extend Ohio's open housing law to cover the sale or rental of one and two family residences.

The House originally defeated the bill, but finally passed a stronger bill to allow for court intervention on discrimination complaints.

In legislative action Tuesday night, the Senate adopted and sent to the House two companion bills to allow the state to begin spending $500 million for highways.

It passed 27-2 a bill to authorize the issuing of $300 million of highway bonds during the 1969-71 biennium.

Highway construction, engineering and right-of-way costs would be allocated $262 million, the Transportation Research and Development Center near Bellefontaine, $30 million and roads leading to public parks and recreational areas, $8 million.

The $300 million comes from the $500 million in highway bonds approved by voters last November in State Issue No. 1.

The bond issue provided that not more than $100 million of bonds could be issued in one year and that half of the $500 million would have to be spent to help alleviate urban traffic bottlenecks.

The bill included an emergency clause which makes it effective upon the governor's signature.

The second highway bill, which establishes a distribution formula for the use of the $250 million earmarked for urban bottlenecks, passed 26-0.

The formula is based 75 percent on a county's population and 25 percent on its miles of highways.

The bill includes minimum guarantees of construction funds for small counties.

In the House, a bill to require immunization against German measles for children starting school passed 83-0.

The House also passed 74-5 a bill providing insurance protection for student teachers. It is similar to a law providing insurance for regular teachers.

Labor Pool

If the nation were to dump 10 percent of its natural resources into the oceans, a hue and cry would arise to shake the foundations of the Republic. But that is largely what it has done to that part of the population which has had the poor grace to pass its 65th birthday.

There are now 19 million Americans in this category, and they are not all disabled by age, disease or infirmities. Many are just as capable and potentially productive today as they were yesterday when they passed that employment roadblock.

Yet, there they sit for the most part, with little to do but reflect upon past achievements and wonder or worry what the future might bring. Millions are content in retirement, but even they must wonder at times if there isn't something they could do besides fishing, visiting or tending the flowers.

There is a vast potential of service 19 million Americans could offer their country, if asked.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — As the credit vise tightens and forecasts of business profits turn bearish, a faint and seemingly contradictory pulsation is emanating from some of the traditionally conservative large investors.

Their messages aren't coming through very strong as yet, for business faces many problems in coming months. And cautious recommendations are doing little to burn away the thick smog that has enveloped trader in recent months.

The message can be detected, however, and they are based not so much on expectations of a business upturn six months ahead as they are on the realization that some of the blue chips are, simply, selling at very low prices.

Typical of the outlook by some conservative financial men is that of John Wright, a large investor and stock market adviser who deals only in blue chips.

"For seasoned and serious investors," Wright maintains, "the important thing now is not whether the Dow Jones industrial average has bottomed or if not, just where it will.

"Rather it is the unmistakable fact that today's stock market now offers a buying opportunity which normally occurs only at intervals of three to five years."

There is, says Wright, "every historic precedent for the assurance that today's purchases of high quality equities will by 1970-71 prove to have been highly rewarding."

Argus Research Corp., whose economic and stock market reports are widely used by brokerage houses and institutional investors, still advise caution but add a phrase gradually becoming popular.

This caution, Argus states, "does not preclude the selective purchase of high quality growth stocks for long-term accumulation.

"While bonds and utility stocks may grow slower yet, they are probably not too far from their cyclical lows and should rise nicely by next winter."

Neither of these advisers is a broker dependent upon stock market activity for commissions. They receive their fees regardless of the positions they take or the amount of trading that results from their advice.

Some of the buying interest of conservative investors seems to be based partly on the theory of contrary opinion, the assumption being that when an attitude becomes a vogue, such as selling, the opposite course might be wise.

Some of the interest might be fueled also by the economic forecasts for the next year which indicate that, despite the present focus on negative news and the developing slowdown, the economy may begin to move ahead in 1970.

Son Is Boss

By BOB THOMAS

AP Television-Movie Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "I made 50 motion pictures in my day," says Jack Haley, "but the one that everyone remembers is 'The Wizard of Oz.'"

Naturally. Because of the repeated showings on television, a whole new generation of youngsters knows the Tin Woodman even though they aren't familiar with the career of Jack Haley.

Those over 40 would be. Through the 1930s and into the 1940s Haley starred in a succession of musicals and comedies. His favorite: "Wake Up and Live," in which he sang in his bland style "Never in a Million Years."

Jack Haley is making his first movie in 25 years, and it's a sentimental return. The film is "Norwood," and the director is Jack Haley Jr., making his feature debut after a distinguished career in television.

Explained Haley Sr.: "He asked me to do the picture and because I love him, I obeyed. After all, he obeyed me during those years when he was growing up."

"I still can't get over it. I've worked with 46 different directors in 50 films. Then to come on a set and see a million dollars worth of equipment and a crew of 90 people, and my son is in charge of all of this!

"To realize that my own son has such a responsibility was a strange feeling. I wondered if he was capable of handling it. Then after I saw him work, I realized that he was. How did he get that way? Nine years of making documentaries for David Wolper, when millions of feet of film went through his hands."

The elder Haley is playing a brief role as a farm owner in "Norwood," which stars Glen Campbell and Kim Darby. It's doubtful if Haley will resume his acting career, since he is one retired performer who is reputed to be wealthy.

Haley was asked how he reacted upon hearing the recent news of the death of Judy Garland.

"I felt a great sadness," he said. "Not only for Judy, but for the millions of young people to whom Dorothy in 'The Wizard of Oz' was a kind of symbol. The whole substance of the film was the belief that Dorothy wanted to get home; that's why it has such great appeal."

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

HAVE YOU EVER felt the desire to run for mayor of your old home town? Listen to the confession of one aspirant for this exalted office: "I lost six months of my time and thirty pounds, kissed three hundred babies, walked over a thousand miles, shook forty thousand hands, made love to nine grass widows, was bitten by eight dogs—and then got licked."

How carefully do you read a news item? Puzzle addicts are circulating this small test: Scan the following sentence and count the F's therein: "Finished files are the result of years of scientific study combined with the experience of years."

If your count is four, you're supposedly above average, five you're a smart apple indeed, and if you caught all six, well, you are wasting your ultra-valuable time taking tests like this?

QUICKIES: An enterprising Hollywoodite has rushed out a sex film in which all the participants are fully dressed. It's for showing in nudist colonies.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I give a great deal of thought to why so many readers write me about most intimate social, sexual, and emotional problems. All the letters are obviously from very stable, mature people truly wanting dignified answers. I believe there are many people—men, women and young adults—who are timid about speaking to their own doctors about these subjects for fear it would expose them and perhaps become common knowledge in their communities. This totally false belief is based on lack of understanding of the doctor's position in regard to any personal detail told him.

Today's family physician, in a large or small community, takes care of the total human being, his patients, and never separates the physical from the emotional or the social aspects of their lives. The doctor, understanding the complex emotional nature of the family, has heard every modification of these problems. All of them are kept completely secret as are the actual physical illnesses that are brought to him.

Patients must believe that their privacy will always remain intact, there will be no embarrassment, even in social contacts with their doctor. The need to write to me is based on the feeling that readers can openly express their problems and still retain their anonymity. Unfortunately, the solution to an emotional problem must not depend on an unseen physician-writer.

The broad principles of psychological medicine come through to many of my readers. But this is not enough. It is imperative that when an important emotional crisis exists within the individual or within the home, it be openly discussed with one's own physician. He knows you and your family best and is in the ideal position to direct the solution for your emotional needs.

It is astonishing how often major problems are reduced to their proper size when they are truthfully discussed with a professionally trained listener. I say professionally trained because many friends are presumptuous enough to believe they can help solve their friends' problems. Almost always this is a mistake.

A dear friend or relative really cares, but cannot divorce his own emotions from those of the people whom he loves and is trying to help.

A doctor, a psychiatrist, a psychologist, a religious advisor, has been trained in the art of listening, in the art of understanding, and in the art of counseling. Their advice can help direct the behavior of those who come to them. An unbiased attitude can only exist if these well-trained professionals can separate themselves and their own emotions from the problems presented to them.

Bad posture must be corrected very early.

Soviet Marshals Look East

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
How much of a chance is President Richard Nixon taking when he stops off in Rumania, the dissatisfied Soviet satellite that has exhibited some sympathy for Red China?

The answer to the question, as it is currently being threshed out by the Kremlinologists, depends on the relative pressures of anti-Maoism and anti-Americanism (or anti-imperialism) as they affect the Soviet military high command.

Radio Liberty's knowledgeable expert, Christian Dueval, notes that the Soviet marshals, writing in various official publications, have been quarreling with each other about the identity of the Soviets' worst enemy. Last year the marshals were rather well agreed on accepting the Pravda editorial line that Vietnam, the Middle East, the West German "revanchists," and the question of West Berlin, were the overriding issues. The U.S. was considered the evil moving spirit in fomenting troubles all around the great sea-girt area extending from western Europe to Southeast Asia. But the Pravda editorial line omitted direct or indirect tirades against Mao Tse-tung. Lyndon Johnson's Washington was Enemy Number One.

This year Pravda has slacked off on its anti-American tone. A lead editorial of the official Communist Party daily turns to the east to look at the "valiant defenders of our borders on the River Ussuri." The Czech crisis is played down; the Red Chinese are specifically signaled out as "enemies of peace."

The new Pravda line has disrupted the unanimity of the Soviet generals. Defense Minister Marshal Grechko, writing in Pravda on the Soviet Victory Day anniversary, has evidently forgotten that his last year's emphasis was harshly anti-American. This year, though he still refers to the West Germans as "neo-Fascists," he concentrates on "the adventurous policy of Mao Tse-tung's group, which has proclaimed chauvinist-hegemonial aspirations and anti-Sovietism as their official political course." There is just one minor anti-American rally in Marshal Grechko's article.

The logical surmise is that the Soviet Defense Minister has been too busy wrestling with the possibility of a preventive war against Red China to bother with the United States.

By contrast, Marshal Zakharov, the Soviet Chief of Staff, writing in Izvestia, remains adamantly anti-American and anti-western. He actually omits the anti-Maoist references that are evidently considered obligatory by the other Soviet military leaders.

A third important Soviet general, Marshal Yakubovsky, the Commander-in-Chief of the Warsaw Pact, has taken a mixed position. He attacks "imperialism" and NATO, but with less feeling than in his remarks of a year ago. Despite the fact that the safety of the East European satellites is his particular concern, it is Red China that receives the full thrust of his invective. He threatens the Maoists directly if they should again encroach on the "holy Soviet earth." Other generals echo Grechko and Yakubovsky.

With a majority of the Soviet generals turning their eyes toward the Soviet-Red Chinese border, it is hardly likely that Comrades Brezhnev and Kosygin are plotting anything that might strike at Rumania while President Nixon is in Bucharest. The Russians have always been fearful of simultaneous trouble on two fronts. The words of Marshal Grechko and Marshal Yakubovsky indicate that the Kremlin considers it has made its western front reasonably secure by suppressing the liberal uprising in Czechoslovakia, and can now turn its attention to the problem of Mao Tse-tung.

Coincidental with the Grechko-Yakubovsky pronouncements, Brezhnev has launched an intensified campaign against "nationalism" in the Soviet central Asian republics. There have been indoctrination meetings in Tashkent and at Alma-Ata. The Soviets want no deflection of the loyalty of Uzbeks and Mongols and other central Asian minorities while they are menaced by the Red Chinese.

If, as reported from various sources, the Soviets have had to close their Trans-Siberian Railroad to civilian traffic for weeks on end in order to move soldiers into position to face Mao Tse-tung in the Far East, it stands to reason that Nixon's visit to Rumania will invite no reprisals, even though Rumania has been somewhat pro-Mao. Indeed, it would not be surprising if Moscow invited Nixon to make a sidestep from Bucharest to the Kremlin in hopes of neutralizing the U.S. in case of open Soviet war on Red China.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — As the credit vise tightens and forecasts of business profits turn bearish, a faint and seemingly contradictory pulsation is emanating from some of the traditionally conservative large investors.

Their messages aren't coming through very strong as yet, for business faces many problems in coming months. And cautious recommendations are doing little to burn away the thick smog that has enveloped trader in recent months.

The message can be detected,

Gas War Brings Bargain To Owner

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP)—Troy Still, service station operator, knows a bargain when he sees it.

Troy started a gas war with a neighboring station Monday by cutting his gasoline price to 21 cents a gallon.

His competitor, Ed Pemberton, axed his price to 11.9 cents a gallon.

And Troy? "I took my truck across the street and had him fill it," he said.

Beatles Barred In South Africa

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — In most other parts of the world it's forgotten, but in South Africa Beatle John Lennon's casual remark in August 1966 that his pop group was more popular than Christ still stirs strong memories.

The South African Broadcasting Corporation (S.A.B.C.), which monopolizes all radio broadcasts in South Africa, banned the Beatles after Lennon's comment and said recently it will not relent unless there is a personal apology. A spokesman for the Beatles' recording company in Johannesburg said: "The ban by the S.A.B.C. has had no effect on the Beatles' latest releases."

Son Is Boss

By BOB THOMAS

AP Television-Movie Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "I made 50 motion pictures in my day," says Jack Haley, "but the one that everyone remembers is 'The Wizard of Oz.'"

Naturally. Because of the repeated showings on television, a whole new generation of youngsters knows the Tin Woodman even though they aren't familiar with the career of Jack Haley.

Those over 40 would be. Through the 1930s and into the 1940s Haley starred in a succession of musicals and comedies. His favorite: "Wake Up and Live," in which he sang in his bland style "Never in a Million Years."

Jack Haley is making his first movie in 25 years, and it's a sentimental return. The film is "Norwood," and the director is Jack Haley Jr., making his feature debut after a distinguished career in television.

Explained Haley Sr.: "He asked me to do the picture and because I love him, I obeyed. After all, he obeyed me during those years when he was growing up."

"I still can't get over it. I've worked with 46 different directors in 50 films. Then to come on a set and see a million dollars worth of equipment and a crew of 90 people, and my son is in charge of all of this!

"To realize that my own son has such a responsibility was a strange feeling. I wondered if he was capable of handling it. Then after I saw him work, I realized that he was. How did he get that way? Nine years of making documentaries for David Wolper, when millions of feet of film went through his hands."

The elder Haley is playing a brief role as a farm owner in "Norwood," which stars Glen Campbell and Kim Darby. It's doubtful if Haley will resume his acting career, since he is one retired performer who is reputed to be wealthy.

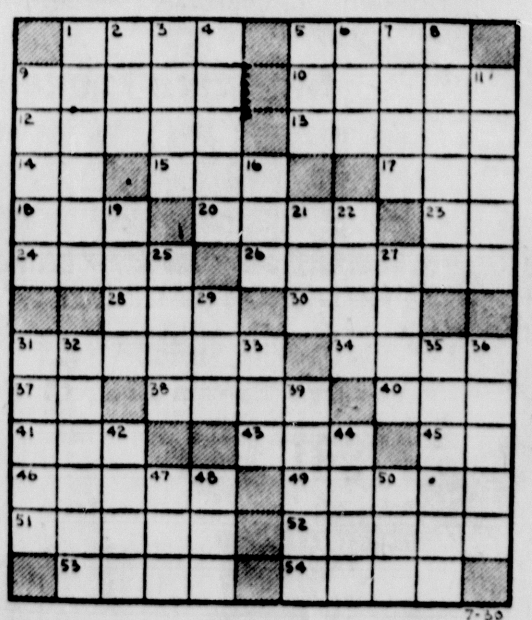

Haley was asked how he reacted upon hearing the recent news of the death of Judy Garland.

"I felt a great sadness," he said. "Not only for Judy, but for the millions of young people to whom Dorothy in 'The Wizard of Oz' was a kind of symbol. The whole substance of the film was the belief that Dorothy wanted to get home; that's why it has such great appeal."

Views on Television

For CYNTHIA LOWRY
By JERRY BUCK
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Fourteen series in the new television season will have blacks in starring or leading roles.

The number is slightly ahead of last season. Five series in which blacks played roles were canceled and five were added. In addition, football star Rosey Grier joins the cast of "Daniel Boone."

But, says a report by two Michigan State University researchers, the roles, dress and language of blacks on television — at least in past seasons — still are very white.

Dr. Bradley Greenberg, associate professor of communications, and Joseph Dominick, graduate assistant, compared two average weeks of viewing in the 1967-68 and 1968-69 seasons.

The researchers also found that the percentage of blacks playing major roles remained the same both seasons. However, the number of black actors playing "second bananas" to white heroes increased in the latest season.

Concludes the MSU researchers: "Television feels a need to project black images, but really doesn't know how."

The networks aren't likely to offer any realistic portrayals of black roles soon. Television has never been one to pioneer, and after the uproar over "violence and sex" the industry is offering as low a profile as possible in all areas in the coming season.

Besides, it is doubtful that blacks are any more anxious to see a situation comedy about the ghetto than whites are to see the poverty of Appalachia in "The Beverly Hillbillies."

Said Bill Cosby: "I think the reality of what happens in the news is depressing enough. A black man on a walk through life wouldn't last 13 weeks."

Hal Kanter, the creator of "Julia," said, "I'm not an anthropologist or a sociologist." He said he sees nothing wrong with suspending reality and offering an underprivileged child a dream.

The Michigan researchers pointed out that most black actors played "good" characters. The most popular professions in the first season were musicians, doctors and soldiers. In the current season there was a black law enforcer and black cowboy.

Blacks, they found, were slightly more apt to take orders than to give them. Among the new shows, Cosby and Lloyd Haynes of "Room 222" play school teachers. Lee Weaver, who plays Cosby's brother, is a garbage collector. Hari Rhodes in "The Bold Ones" is a district attorney. The kids in "The New People" are students and Grier plays a runaway slave who lives with the Indians.

Deer Commit Suicide

GRANVILLE, Ohio (AP) — A motorist may have frightened two deer into committing suicide. Charles Evans told the sheriff's office he was approaching a bridge when he spotted two deer on the span. As he drew near, he said, they suddenly leaped over the side of the bridge.

The animals were found dead beneath the bridge.

Country Club Members Play Unusual Golf

"Mish-Mash In The Moonlight" was the name given the mixed-up moonlight golf game Saturday night at the Pickaway Country Club.

Hurricane lamps combined with the moonlight enabled the players to see the wiffle balls as they were hit over the course with everything from badminton rackets to golf clubs.

Punch was served in the club house, decorated with golf cartoons, before the contest got under way.

An arithmetic book was awarded the man with the lowest score, a medal 10 inches in diameter inscribed "I Am The Best." was given the woman with the lowest score, a golf ball with wings of feathers was awarded the woman with the highest score; a head reminder was given the man with the highest score, the person who sent most balls into the water received a sailboat and for the longest drive the ball was tagged so it could be mailed back if hit out of the county.

Playing the unusual game were Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Hoffman, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Lackey, Mr. and Mrs. Marc Davis, Mr. and Mrs. William Camp, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Spaulding, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Leahy, Mr. and Mrs. William Sprout, Mr. and Mrs. James Rae, Mr. and Mrs. William Fischer, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Berlin, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Schneider, Mr. and Mrs. James McDaniels, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Don Laws of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Views on Television

For CYNTHIA LOWRY
By JERRY BUCK
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Fourteen series in the new television season will have blacks in starring or leading roles.

The number is slightly ahead of last season. Five series in which blacks played roles were canceled and five were added. In addition, football star Rosey Grier joins the cast of "Daniel Boone."

But, says a report by two Michigan State University researchers, the roles, dress and language of blacks on television — at least in past seasons — still are very white.

Dr. Bradley Greenberg, associate professor of communications, and Joseph Dominick, graduate assistant, compared two average weeks of viewing in the 1967-68 and 1968-69 seasons.

The researchers also found that the percentage of blacks playing major roles remained the same both seasons. However, the number of black actors playing "second bananas" to white heroes increased in the latest season.

Concludes the MSU researchers: "Television feels a need to project black images, but really doesn't know how."

The networks aren't likely to offer any realistic portrayals of black roles soon. Television has never been one to pioneer, and after the uproar over "violence and sex" the industry is offering as low a profile as possible in all areas in the coming season.

Besides, it is doubtful that blacks are any more anxious to see a situation comedy about the ghetto than whites are to see the poverty of Appalachia in "The Beverly Hillbillies."

Said Bill Cosby: "I think the reality of what happens in the news is depressing enough. A black man on a walk through life wouldn't last 13 weeks."

Hal Kanter, the creator of "Julia," said, "I'm not an anthropologist or a sociologist." He said he sees nothing wrong with suspending reality and offering an underprivileged child a dream.

The Michigan researchers pointed out that most black actors played "good" characters. The most popular professions in the first season were musicians, doctors and soldiers. In the current season there was a black law enforcer and black cowboy.

Blacks, they found, were slightly more apt to take orders than to give them. Among the new shows, Cosby and Lloyd Haynes of "Room 222" play school teachers. Lee Weaver, who plays Cosby's brother, is a garbage collector. Hari Rhodes in "The Bold Ones" is a district attorney. The kids in "The New People" are students and Grier plays a runaway slave who lives with the Indians.

Deer Commit Suicide

GRANVILLE, Ohio (AP) — A motorist may have frightened two deer into committing suicide.

Charles Evans told the sheriff's office he was approaching a bridge when he spotted two deer on the span. As he drew near, he said, they suddenly leaped over the side of the bridge.

The animals were found dead beneath the bridge.

Country Club Members Play Unusual Golf

"Mish-Mash In The Moonlight" was the name given the mixed-up moonlight golf game Saturday night at the Pickaway Country Club.

Hurricane lamps combined with the moonlight enabled the players to see the wiffle balls as they were hit over the course with everything from badminton rackets to golf clubs.

Punch was served in the club house, decorated with golf cartoons, before the contest got under way.

An arithmetic book was awarded the man with the lowest score, a medal 10 inches in diameter inscribed "I Am The Best," was given the woman with the lowest score, a golf ball with wings of feathers was awarded the woman with the highest score; a head reminder was given the man with the highest score, the person who sent most balls into the water received a sailboat and for the longest drive the ball was tagged so it could be mailed back if hit out of the county.

Playing the unusual game were Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Hoffman, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Lackey, Mr. and Mrs. Marc Davis, Mr. and Mrs. William Camp, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Spalding, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Leahy, Mr. and Mrs. William Sprout, Mr. and Mrs. James Rae, Mr. and Mrs. William Fischer, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Berlin, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Schneider, Mr. and Mrs. James McDaniels, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Don Laws of Pittsburgh, Pa.

The evening's events were concluded with a midnight buffet served in the clubhouse.

Let's Tour Ohio

Southwest Ohio Has Civil War Memorabilia, Mounds

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one of a series of short tours of Ohio's top travel attractions prepared for the Circleville Herald by the Columbus Auto Club Travel Department.

A drive through the hilly southwestern Ohio terrain along and north of the Ohio River focuses on two widely-scattered periods of history — the mound builder Indians, and the Civil War and life of U. S. Grant.

All the main sites on this tour are administered by the Ohio Historical Society.

Fort Hill is an excellently preserved Indian hilltop enclosure. The stone and earthen wall is nearly two miles long, up to 15 feet high and 40 feet wide and encloses 40 acres. Along the marked tour to the enclosure are interesting rock outcroppings and a wide variety of plant and animal life. A new museum has fine exhibits of the period and area.

A short distance south is Serpent Mound, largest and best preserved mound effigy in the nation. Some 1300 feet long, its seven deep curves resemble a serpent uncoiling. Climb the observation tower for the best view. A museum features a cross section of a burial mound.

Both Fort Hill and Serpent Mound are open during daylight hours and have fine picnic facilities. Fort Hill museum is open 9:30 to 5, except Monday. Admission, 50 cents for adults.

Eighteenth U.S. president and commander of the Union armies, Grant was born in a small frame cottage near Point Pleasant which is newly restored and maintained as a museum. Recently reopened after restoration is the Grant schoolhouse at Georgetown.

At Ripley is the home of John Rankin, a key figure in the abolitionist movement. A stop on the "underground railroad," through which many slaves found freedom, the home is restored and contains many of Rankin's personal items.

The Grant schoolhouse and home, and Rankin's home are open 9:30 to 5, except Monday. Admission to each is 25 cents; children 15 cents.

AAA suggests this routing to the tour area. From Circleville, go south on U. S. 23 to Chillicothe and the Jct. with U.S. 50; southwest on U.S. 50 to Jct. with Ohio Route 41; southwest on Ohio Route 41 into the tour area.

STAR GRANGE

The members of Star Grange gathered at the Monroe School auditorium Tuesday evening for their annual picnic.

The picnic table was graced with all the delicacies of the season including corn on the cob and fried chicken. After the supper, Harold Furniss presided over the business session.

Mrs. Francis Furniss, home economics chairman, reminded the members of their responsibilities for the lunch at the fair on Wednesday. The men are to have charge of the gates on Thursday evening and Friday morning. Mrs. Otha Lewis, chairman of the Grange booth, discussed the Fair Booth and solicited help to set it up.

Pomona Grange will be held Friday evening, Aug. 8 at the 4-H and Grange building and will feature the sewing and baking contest and inspection.

The program, under the direction of the lecturer, Mrs. Otha Lewis who used as her theme, "America — The Land of the Free" opened with the thought for the day by the chaplain, Florence Long, "Smiles." Mrs. Allen Follrod read, "America For Me" and Mrs. Francis Furniss gave some patriotic facts. Mrs. Lewis presented a comic reading and Miss Laura Long read, "And the truth shall make you free!"

Mrs. Robert Morgan read "The Flag Goes By" and Mrs. Lewis presented a patriotic quiz, which proved interesting and educational.

Mrs. Wilbur Beathard read "The Patriotic Creed" and Mrs. Lewis gave the closing thought.

There will be no meetings during the month of August. The next meeting will be held September 9 and will be election of officers. All members are urged to attend the next meeting after their vacations.

If four structures the size of the 1,472-foot Empire State Building were stacked on the floor of the Grand Canyon, only the television tower on the top one would poke above the North Rim.

Catholic Church Still Split Over Birth Control Issue

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The first anniversary of Pope Paul's birth control encyclical finds the Roman Catholic Church still badly divided over the issue.

The Pope gives every indication that he still believes it is sinful to try to restrict the natural reproductive process by mechanical or chemical means.

His critics say that Catholics should follow their own consciences in deciding whether to use contraceptives instead of the approved rhythm method of sexual abstinence during the wife's period of fertility.

The controversy has split the Catholic Church, putting liberal laymen, many priests and even some bishops in opposition to Pope Paul and his supporters.

The birth control dispute has spurred Catholic progressives to question other traditional teachings, including the central issue of papal authority.

In the latest dispute, Belgium's liberal Leo Jozef Cardinal Suenens has called for greater sharing by bishops in the Pope's powers and for the dissolution of much of Vatican Curia, the Church's central bureaucracy. Eugene Cardinal Tisserant, the French dean of the College of Cardinals, and others have accused Cardinal Suenens of being indiscreet by airing his complaints in public.

Rumors recently swept Vatican circles that the 71-year-old Pope had been swayed toward accepting flexible interpretations of his birth control encyclical Humanae Vitae (Of Human Life). Some of these interpretations say the encyclical allows freedom of the individual to reject or accept the Pope's words as the individual's conscience dictates.

The Vatican Curia has tried to quash this line of thought in two editorials in the past week in L'Osservatore Romano, the Vatican's daily newspaper.

The Pope's critics argue that since he did not invoke papal infallibility in Humanae Vitae, Catholics are not bound under pain of mortal sin to obey him.

SNO-CONE EATERS — Both Queen Connie Lett and King Jeff Riegel satisfy a sweet tooth with sno-cones at the Pickaway County Fair.

Drive-In Doctors Are Advocated By Pediatrician

JACKSON, Tenn. (AP) — First drive-in movies. Then drive-in banks. And now maybe drive-in doctors.

Dr. William G. Crook, a Jackson pediatrician who says "American children aren't getting all the medical care they need," is working with a group of business associates on a plan he hopes will improve and speed up health care to children.

His plan calls for a nationwide franchised chain of child health centers whose features will include a 24-hour drive-in service for ill children.

Crook plans to open the first unit here within a year.

The centers' drive-in arrangements are designed to facilitate the examination and treatment of children without extended waiting periods.

JACKSON, Tenn. (AP) — First drive-in movies. Then drive-in banks. And now maybe drive-in doctors.

Dr. William G. Crook, a Jackson pediatrician who says "American children aren't getting all the medical care they need," is working with a group of business associates on a plan he hopes will improve and speed up health care to children.

His plan calls for a nationwide franchised chain of child health centers whose features will include a 24-hour drive-in service for ill children.

Crook plans to open the first unit here within a year.

The centers' drive-in arrangements are designed to facilitate the examination and treatment of children without extended waiting periods.

Demos Say Photo Of Burger With Politician Is Partisan

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Democratic party official has accused the Republicans of exploiting Warren E. Burger's position as chief justice "for narrow partisan purposes."

How Weather Looks Today

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary for Ohio:

It was clear to partly cloudy over the state during the night. At 6 a.m. today, temperatures ranged from the most part from the upper 50s to the lower 60s. The lowest reading was 59 at Findlay and the highest 65 at Marietta.

While there will be some cloudy intervals with isolated showers, the sun will be in evidence a good part of today and this evening over much of the state.

A high pressure ridge will move from Illinois to Ohio by late tonight. After a clear and quite cool night tonight, the high will bring sunny skies with near normal temperatures to the state Thursday.

Tonight's low range will be from the middle 50s to the lower 60s. The high Thursday will be in the 80s. The outlook for Friday shows increasing cloudiness and warmer weather.

FORECASTS

OHIO — Clear and cooler to night. Lows from the mid 50s to the lower 60s. Mostly sunny and warmer Thursday.

NORTHWEST, NORTHEAST OHIO — Clear and cooler to night. Lows mainly in the upper 50s. Sunny and warmer Thursday. Highs in the lower to mid 80s.

CENTRAL, EAST CENTRAL SOUTHWEST, SOUTHEAST OHIO — Clear and cooler to night. Lows from the upper 50s to the lower 60s. Sunny and warmer Thursday. Highs in the mid to upper 80s.

OHIO FIVE - DAY FORECAST

Temperatures will average near normal north and a few degrees below normal south Thursday through Monday. Daytime highs will average between 80-85 while overnight lows will be in the lower 70s. Warming early part of the period, cooler over the weekend, then temperatures moderating again early next week. Precipitation will average .5 inch or less as showers toward the end of the week and again the early part of next week.

Alvin A. Spivak, public affairs director of the Democratic National Committee, blasted the Republicans for publishing a newsletter showing a picture of the new Supreme Court chief with A. Linwood Holton, Republican nominee for governor of Virginia.

Labeled "Dominion State Go-Power," the picture also includes President Nixon and Mrs. Holton. It appears in this week's issue of "Monday," a weekly, four-page publication which goes to some 14,000 Republican party leaders.

"The chief justice should be — and is — above partisanship, and for the Republicans to use him in such a blatant political manner is unfair to Mr. Burger in casting doubts upon his non-political role," Spivak said in a statement.

Ken Rietz, director of information for the Republican National Committee, said the picture was taken July 20 after a White House church service and is intended to show "a situation at the White House."

"It doesn't mean the chief justice is campaigning for him," Rietz told a reporter.

Supreme Court press officer Banning E. Whittington, in response to an inquiry, issued a statement saying Burger was on the receiving line with Nixon and "Photos were taken by various photographers with many of the guests including members of Congress of both parties."

"The chief justice had not met Mr. Holton prior to that day nor since," the statement added.

Slate Hearings On Railroad's 'Stop' Request

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission will hold public hearings in three Ohio cities on a request of the Erie Lackawanna Railway Co. to discontinue two passenger trains between Hoboken, N. J., and Chicago.

The hearings will be held in Youngstown Sept. 9, Kent Sept. 10 and Marion Sept. 11. Similar hearings will be held in New York City and Chicago plus other cities along the route in New York, Pennsylvania and Indiana.

The railroad had asked permission to abandon the trains because of mounting losses.

The ICC ordered the railroad to keep the trains operating while it investigates the request.

Pay Raise Bill Still Locked Up In Committee

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill to provide pay raises for state employees still is locked up in the Senate Rules Committee.

Despite this, two groups representing state employees are continuing to lobby for more money than the bill provides for state employees.

The State Employees Union Tuesday predicted a $7 million dollars savings in the state's projected health insurance plan for employees.

In a letter to Senate Majority Leader Theodore M. Gray, R - 3 Piqua, the union recommended that the $7 million be applied to a cost of living one step pay hike for all state employees.

The administration bill now provides $29.5 million for pay raises for 87 per cent of the state's 47,000 employees. This would apply to anyone making less than $8,320 a year.

When asked about the proposal, Gray said he had not yet received the letter.

The Ohio Civil Service Employees Association said its research has "uncovered" nearly $67 million of unencumbered money in the state's general revenue fund as of June 30, 1969.

The association renewed its push for an eight cent an hour increase for all state employees over and above the money provided in the bill.

The association said its amendment would cost $7.5 million.

Man Given 90 Days In Middletown Fight

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — A Negro youth charged in the assault of a white policeman during a disturbance July 4 was sentenced in municipal court to 90 days in jail Tuesday.

William Sparks, 20, of Middletown, was convicted of disorderly conduct, assaulting a police officer and resisting arrest and was sentenced to 30 days on each count.

SEC Chairman Linked To Big Mutual Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission said he would like to become president of six mutual funds if his boss — apparently President Nixon — approved, Senate sources say.

A source close to the Senate Banking and Currency Committee quoted the report Tuesday night from minutes taken when directors of the six mutual funds managed by Investors Diversified Services Inc. met in Minneapolis June 12 to elect SEC Chairman Hamer H. Budge their new president.

Budge and representatives of the funds and IDS were called before the subcommittee today to explore a "possible conflict of interest."

The minutes, as quoted by the committee source, identify George E. MacKinnon, vice president and general counsel of the funds, as approaching Budge about the job. MacKinnon was confirmed May 1 and sworn in June 14 as a judge on the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

Nixon nominated him April 23.

Budge, reached at his home in Washington Tuesday night, declined to comment. He insisted in a statement last week he had rejected the offer and had done nothing improper.

MacKinnon was away from his home in Minneapolis and could not be reached. Nixon was a director of four of the mutual funds from late 1964 until May 1968. He and MacKinnon served in the House together during the mid-1940s and MacKinnon was a U.S. attorney in Minneapolis when Nixon was vice president.

In the last two years of the Eisenhower administration he was a special assistant to William P. Rogers, then attorney general and now secretary of state.

2 More Men Are Charged With Murder

CINCINNATI (AP) — Two more men — one who has been in the Kentucky reformatory since Jan. 31 — have been charged with first-degree murder in the slaying of a night manager at a downtown parking garage here.

Police said Tuesday that Paul F. Johnson, 26, formerly of Dayton, Ky., was arrested Saturday in Tucson, Ariz. He waived extradition and was being held here.

Also charged was Orville R. Alford, 27, of Newport, Ky. Alford is serving time at the reformatory in LaGrange for armed robbery and breaking and entering.

Michael Maggard, 19, Dayton, Ky., was charged last week in the death of Harry Danford, 65, shot during a holdup at the Olympic Auto Garage Jan. 3.

senhower administration he was a special assistant to William P. Rogers, then attorney general and now secretary of state.

The sources said MacKinnon and Harold Bradford, the 66-year-old president of the six funds, interviewed Budge May 16, between MacKinnon's confirmation and seating.

On May 23 the funds' executive committee adopted a resolution favoring Budge and on June 12 the full board of directors and the separate boards of the six funds voted to elect Budge president subject to his acceptance.

It was at the joint meeting that day that the minutes said: "The chairman inquired of Mr. MacKinnon whether he had heard anything recently from the person chosen to be president. Mr. MacKinnon said that he had talked to him on several occasions, including last evening, and had been informed that he would like to accept the offer of the directors and that it would be entirely in order for the boards of directors in their separate meetings to adopt appropriate resolutions subject, however, to the wishes of his present boss who might want to ask him to remain in his present position for a period of time to make an orderly transmission to his successor."

Budge, a Republican, was appointed to the commission by President Johnson. He was named SEC chairman in February and given a full five-year term on May 28.

His negotiations with the IDS-controlled funds came at a time when the SEC had been asked by the Banking and Currency Committee to investigate the "face amount certificate" business.

IDS, the largest mutual fund concern in the nation, has 95 per cent of the face amount business. It provides half the company's net annual profit.

A face amount certificate is usually sold at a discount, for less than the face maturity value, and frequently on the installment plan. Many pay less than 4 per cent interest over 20-year or more maturity periods, and the contracts are written so that commissions and service charges are deducted during the early years of the certificate's life.

Pay Raise Bill Still Locked Up In Committee

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill to provide pay raises for state employees still is locked up in the Senate Rules Committee.

Despite this, two groups representing state employees are continuing to lobby for more money than the bill provides for state employees.

The State Employees Union Tuesday predicted a $7 million dollars savings in the state's projected health insurance plan for employees.

In a letter to Senate Majority Leader Theodore M. Gray, R - 3 Piqua, the union recommended that the $7 million be applied to a cost of living one step pay hike for all state employees.

The administration bill now provides $29.5 million for pay raises for 87 per cent of the state's 47,000 employees. This would apply to anyone making less than $8,320 a year.

When asked about the proposal, Gray said he had not yet received the letter.

The Ohio Civil Service Employees Association said its research has "uncovered" nearly $67 million of unencumbered money in the state's general revenue fund as of June 30, 1969.

The association renewed its push for an eight cent an hour increase for all state employees over and above the money provided in the bill.

The association said its amendment would cost $7.5 million.

SEC Chairman Linked To Big Mutual Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission said he would like to become president of six mutual funds if his boss—apparently President Nixon—approved, Senate sources say.

A source close to the Senate Banking and Currency Committee quoted the report Tuesday night from minutes taken when directors of the six mutual funds managed by Investors Diversified Services Inc. met in Minneapolis June 12 to elect SEC Chairman Hamer H. Budge their new president.

Budge and representatives of the funds and IDS were called before the subcommittee today to explore a "possible conflict of interest."

The minutes, as quoted by the committee source, identify George E. MacKinnon, vice president and general counsel of the funds, as approaching Budge about the job. MacKinnon was confirmed May 1 and sworn in June 14 as a judge on the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

Nixon nominated him April 23.

Budge, reached at his home in Washington Tuesday night, declined to comment. He insisted in a statement last week he had rejected the offer and had done nothing improper.

MacKinnon was away from his home in Minneapolis and could not be reached.

Nixon was a director of four of the mutual funds from late 1964 until May 1968. He and MacKinnon served in the House together during the mid-1940s and MacKinnon was a U.S. attorney in Minneapolis when Nixon was vice president.

In the last two years of the Eisenhower administration he was a special assistant to William P. Rogers, then attorney general and now secretary of state.

The sources said MacKinnon and Harold Bradford, the 66-year-old president of the six funds, interviewed Budge May 16, between MacKinnon's confirmation and seating.

On May 23 the funds' executive committee adopted a resolution favoring Budge and on June 12 the full board of directors and the separate boards of the six funds voted to elect Budge president subject to his acceptance.

It was at the joint meeting that day that the minutes said: "The chairman inquired of Mr. MacKinnon whether he had heard anything recently from the person chosen to be president. Mr. MacKinnon said that he had talked to him on several occasions, including last evening, and had been informed that he would like to accept the offer of the directors and that it would be entirely in order for the boards of directors in their separate meetings to adopt appropriate resolutions subject, however, to the wishes of his present boss who might want to ask him to remain in his present position for a period of time to make an orderly transmission to his successor."

Budge, a Republican, was appointed to the commission by President Johnson. He was named SEC chairman in February and given a full five-year term on May 28.

His negotiations with the IDS-controlled funds came at a time when the SEC had been asked by the Banking and Currency Committee to investigate the "face amount certificate" business.

IDS, the largest mutual fund concern in the nation, has 95 per cent of the face amount business. It provides half the company's net annual profit.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

He's Dying — Without A Will?

DEAR ABBY: My sister's husband has an incurable disease and according to the doctor he can't last more than six months. Believe it or not he is a lawyer, and my sister doesn't know if he has a will or not. A d listen to this. After he had one of his bad days she hinted around that maybe he should put his affairs in order, and he said, "What for? I'm not going any place!"

Is it possible that he doesn't want to face the facts? There is a lot involved, as he had a first wife by whom he had children, and even grandchildren, and my sister hasn't the faintest idea of where she stands. Who should tell him how much time he has? We think it's up to the doctor, but the doctor says he doesn't believe in telling his patients things like that.

BATON ROUGE DEAR BATON: From the way your sister "hints around" I doubt if anyone will have to tell her husband anything. Perhaps he knows, and his affairs are sufficiently "in order" to suit him.

DEAR ABBY: In answer to "BOTHERED" whose husband looks at other women and comments on them: This is not an irritating problem, it's a healthy one. What does she want—a dead man to live with?

I've been married to a "looker" for 35 years, and I wouldn't have him any other way. If Harry quits looking, he's no good to me either.

My husband loves people, and in his business he has come in contact with lots of them. You should see the older ones light up when Harry calls them, "Dear, Honey, and Doll."

As long as he comes home to me every night, I'll never worry. If a man chases, do you know who's responsible for it? His WIFE! A jealous, nagging, belittling wife will drive a man to other women quicker than anything I know. So tell "bored" to be glad her husband "looks," and if he ever quits looking, he's over the hill, she might as well bury him.

Neil Armstrong Happy To Have Museum In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Astronaut Neil Armstrong has expressed pleasure over Gov. James A. Rhodes' proposal to build a museum in his honor at Wapakoneta, Armstrong's home town.

"Tell the governor that I am highly honored and most pleased to accept his proposal," Armstrong told his mother in a telephone conversation shortly after he returned from the moon.

Portions of the conversation were related Monday by Daniel Porter, executive director of the Ohio Historical Society. Porter said response to the governor's proposal has been "terrific" and construction of the $1 million museum should begin within a short time. He said it will be one of the "finest educational museums in America."

If there is a juvenile department in her town or county, that mother should talk to them about her problem. She should also consult her county attorney who will inform her of her rights in regard to trespassing and molesting. Trespassing involves the right to keep people off one's property (either owned or rented), and molesting involves "bothering" a person, mentally or physically. (It includes just "speaking" to a person against his will.

In most states, a person who is being molested can take two witnesses and go to the molester (or in the case of a minor, to the parents or guardian) and in the presence of two witnesses tell the molester to stay away from the family and property of the molested. If the molesting does not stop, the molested can file charges with the county attorney.

If the molested person feels there is any danger when he goes to serve notice on the molester, he should take a policeman or sheriff with him to protect him and his witnesses.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

He's Dying — Without A Will?

DEAR ABBY: My sister's husband has an incurable disease and according to the doctor he can't last more than six months. Believe it or not he is a lawyer, and my sister doesn't know if he has a will or not. A d listen to this. After he had one of his bad days she hinted around that maybe he should put his affairs in order, and he said, "What for? I'm not going any place!"

Is it possible that he doesn't want to face the facts? There is a lot involved, as he had a first wife by whom he had children, and even grandchildren, and my sister hasn't the faintest idea of where she stands. Who should tell him how much time he has? We think it's up to the doctor, but the doctor says he doesn't believe in telling his patients things like that.

BATON ROUGE
DEAR BATON: From the way your sister "hints around" I doubt if anyone will have to tell her husband anything. Perhaps he knows, and his affairs are sufficiently "in order" to suit him.

DEAR ABBY: In answer to "BOTHERED" whose husband looks at other women and comments on them: This is not an irritating problem, it's a healthy one. What does she want—a dead man to live with?

I've been married to a "looker" for 35 years, and I wouldn't have him any other way. If Harry quits looking, he's no good to me either.

My husband loves people, and in his business he has come in contact with lots of them. You should see the older ones light up when Harry calls them, "Dear, Honey, and Doll."

As long as he comes home to me every night, I'll never worry. If a man chases, do you know who's responsible for it? His WIFE! A jealous, nagging, belittling wife will drive a man to other women quicker than anything I know. So tell "battered" to be glad her husband "looks," and if he ever quits looking, he's over the hill, she might as well bury him.

MRS. N. IN PHOENIX
DEAR ABBY: What factor do you consider the most essential

Neil Armstrong Happy To Have Museum In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Astronaut Neil Armstrong has expressed pleasure over Gov. James A. Rhodes' proposal to build a museum in his honor at Wapakoneta, Armstrong's home town.

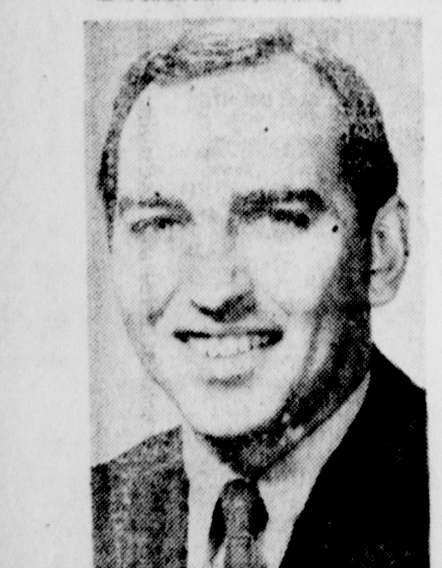

"Tell the governor that I am highly honored and most pleased to accept his proposal," Armstrong told his mother in a telephone conversation shortly after he returned from the moon.

Portions of the conversation were related Monday by Daniel Porter, executive director of the Ohio Historical Society. Porter said response to the governor's proposal has been "terrific" and construction of the $1 million museum should begin within a short time. He said it will be one of the "finest educational museums in America."

signed "WORRIED" wrote that her six-year-old daughter had been taken into the woods by a 12-year-old neighbor boy three times, but she (the mother) was told that she could do nothing about it until she had medical proof of actual damage. Whoever told her that was wrong!

If there is a juvenile department in her town or county, that mother should talk to them about her problem. She should also consult her county attorney who will inform her of her rights in regard to trespassing and molesting. Trespassing involves the right to keep people off one's property (either owned or rented), and molesting involves "bothering" a person, mentally or physically. (It includes just "speaking" to a person against his will.

In most states, a person who is being molested can take two witnesses and go to the molester, (or in the case of a minor, to the parents or guardian) and in the presence of two witnesses tell the molester to stay away from the family and property of the molested. If the molesting does not stop, the molested can file charges with the county attorney.

If the molested person feels there is any danger when he goes to serve notice on the molester, he should take a policeman or sheriff with him to protect him and his witnesses.

High Schoolers Deeper In Drug Abuses

By SAUL DANIELS
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Serious drug abuse in Ohio is gravitating from college-aged youth to high school teenagers, according to Al Cook, a state narcotics investigator.

The state is assisting counties in trying to stop the flow of drugs to younger age groups. A spokesman for Atty. Gen. Paul Brown said the major areas receiving state aid are the Cleveland to Canton area of northeastern Ohio, Hamilton and Athens counties.

Because local areas do not have funds to trap drug abusers, Cook, a former federal narcotics agent, provides people to infiltrate youth groups.

One state agent, a young man who adopted a "hippie mystique" of long hair and old clothes, was assigned to Athens County in early March. Athens County Prosecutor Clair M. Ball, Jr. said, "To set up prosecutions you have to have absolute names, dates and facts."

The undercover agent collected evidence until his cover was cracked. He investigated drug traffic among students and nonstudent hangers-on at Ohio University.

Police learned that there was a plot against the agent's life and he was reassigned July 1.

As a result of the investigator's information, Ball said, "We're moving along real good and we now have a lot of names." He called use of marijuana the basic problem, but said he has seen evidence of heroin and amphetamines, called "speed" by users.

Conviction for selling illegal drugs can bring a sentence of 20 to 40 years imprisonment.

The big drug traffic, Ball said, is in the Ohio University community with 17,000 to 18,000 students and with innumerable hangers-on. The hangers-on, Ball said, are the real cause of the problem.

"We're taking it nice and slow," he said. "The people we're after don't know we have anything on them." He indicated arrests are still several months off.

"Our activities are continuing at even a better stepped up pace than before the state man was reassigned," Ball added. County prosecutors participating in the state program are reluctant to talk about investigations still in progress. However, David Dowd, Stark County prosecuting attorney, said young people 15 to 25 years old are involved with drugs. "We have a more aggressive program to stop it. You have to have a very aggressive program to make arrests," he stressed. This year there have been 25 indictments of young people for narcotics violations in Stark County.

Hamilton County Prosecutor Melvin Ruger said drug abuse in his area has increased 50 per cent among young people. The majority of violators are college age he said, but many are in high school.

A spokesman for the Franklin County prosecutor's office would only comment that younger people are becoming involved with drugs. "At this point we've only had a few

The Circleville Herald, Wed. July 30, 1969 13
Circleville, Ohio

cases for prosecution," he pointed out.

Hamilton County and Cincinnati have not called for assistance from the state. Ruger said the area is served by an efficient vice-squad and the FBI. "We have no need to call for help, but that doesn't mean tomorrow we won't," he said. "You pick out a university and there's a problem," Cook said. "We're checking on drop-ins and drop-outs. We do have the authority to go on state campuses and investigate."

Delay Trial For Murder

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP) — Stephen Patrick, 15, of Marion, will be examined at the Juvenile Diagnostic Center in Columbus before it is decided whether he should be tried as an adult for murder.

Juvenile Court Judge Robert Hastings ordered Patrick sent to the center Tuesday after finding him to be a delinquent.

Patrick and another Marion youth, Roger Craft, 17, are accused of fatally shooting a security guard near the Fairfield School for Boys last May 24 shortly after the pair escaped from the institution.

Craft already is undergoing examination at the center.

The guard, Charles Marion, 23, of Amanda, was shot as he and another security officer closed in on the two youths in a wooded area near the school.

William H. Taft Home To Become National Shrine

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Cincinnati home of former president William Howard Taft will become a national historic site under a $318,000 bill approved Tuesday by a House subcommittee.

The action came after Charles P. Taft, youngest son of the 27th president, testified before the national parks and recreation subcommittee of the House Interior Committee.

Taft, a Cincinnati councilman said the family is prepared to contribute $80,000 to $90,000 toward acquisition of the house and land.

The bill establishes the family's home, where former Sen. Robert A. Taft also lived, as the center of a national shrine envisioned as a complex of about three-quarters of an acre.

High Schoolers Deeper In Drug Abuses

By SAUL DANIELS
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Serious drug abuse in Ohio is gravitating from college-aged youth to high school teenagers, according to Al Cook, a state narcotics investigator.

The state is assisting counties in trying to stop the flow of drugs to younger age groups. A spokesman for Atty. Gen. Paul Brown said the major areas receiving state aid are the Cleveland to Canton area of northeastern Ohio, Hamilton and Athens counties.

Because local areas do not have funds to trap drug abusers Cook, a former federal narcotics agent, provides people to infiltrate youth groups.

One state agent, a young man who adopted a "hippie mis-tique" of long hair and old clothes, was assigned to Athens County in early March. Athens County Prosecutor Clair M. Ball, Jr. said, "To set up prosecutions you have to have absolute names, dates and facts."

The undercover agent collected evidence until his cover was cracked. He investigated drug traffic among students and nonstudent hangers-on at Ohio University.

Police learned that there was a plot against the agent's life and he was reassigned July 1.

As a result of the investigation, Ball said, "We're moving along real good and we now have a lot of names." He called use of marijuana the basic problem, but said he has seen evidence of heroin and amphetamines, called "speed" by users.

Conviction for selling illegal drugs can bring a sentence of 20 to 40 years imprisonment.

The big drug traffic, Ball said, is in the Ohio University community with 17,000 to 18,000 students and with innumerable hangers-on. The hangers-on, Ball said, are the real cause of the problem.

"We're taking it nice and slow," he said. "The people we're after don't know we have anything on them." He indicated arrests are still several months off.

"Our activities are continuing at even a better stepped up pace than before the state man was reassigned," Ball added. County prosecutors participating in the state program are reluctant to talk about investigations still in progress. However, David Dowd, Stark County prosecuting attorney, said young people 15 to 25 years old are involved with drugs. "We have a more aggressive program to stop it. You have to have a very aggressive program to make arrests," he stressed. This year there have been 25

indictments of young people for narcotics violations in Stark County.

Hamilton County Prosecutor Melvin Ruge said drug abuse in his area has increased 50 per cent among young people. The majority of violators are college age he said, but many are in high school.

A spokesman for the Franklin County prosecutor's office would only comment that younger people are becoming involved with drugs. "At this point we've only had a few cases for prosecution," he pointed out.

Hamilton County and Cincinnati have not called for assistance from the state. Ruge said the area is served by an efficient vice-squad and the FBI. "We have no need to call for help, but that doesn't mean tomorrow we won't," he said.

"You pick out a university and there's a problem," Cook said. "We're checking on dropouts and dropouts. We do have the authority to go on state campuses and investigate."

Delay Trial For Murder

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP) — Stephen Patrick, 15, of Marion, will be examined at the Juvenile Diagnostic Center in Columbus before it is decided whether he should be tried as an adult for murder.

Juvenile Court Judge Robert Hastings ordered Patrick sent to the center Tuesday after finding him to be a delinquent.

Patrick and another Marion youth, Roger Craft, 17, are accused of fatally shooting a security guard near the Fairfield School for Boys last May 24 shortly after the pair escaped from the institution.

Craft already is undergoing examination at the center.

The guard, Charles Marion, 23, of Amanda, was shot as he and another security officer closed in on the two youths in a wooded area near the school.

William H. Taft Home To Become National Shrine

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Cincinnati home of former president William Howard Taft will become a national historic site under a $318,000 bill approved Tuesday by a House subcommittee.

The action came after Charles P. Taft, youngest son of the 27th president, testified before the national parks and recreation subcommittee of the House Interior Committee.

Taft, a Cincinnati councilman said the family is prepared to contribute $80,000 to $90,000 toward acquisition of the house and land.

The bill establishes the family's home, where former Sen. Robert A. Taft also lived, as the center of a national shrine envisioned as a complex of about three-quarters of an acre.

Pet Puma Causes Problems To City Basement Dwellers

SELDEN, N.Y. (AP) — Owning a pet puma in a basement apartment of a metropolitan area can present numerous problems—including an eviction notice.

Mrs. Lori Polizzano, 18, a petite 112-pound housewife, owns such an animal, a feline that grows to be 6 feet long and weighs around 150 pounds.

"Everything was okay until the landlord asked us to move," Lori said, recalling the Brooklyn basement apartment to which she first brought the auburn-colored cat.

"Puss Puss" was sunbathing on a window sill, she explained, when the gardeners spotted the cat.

"They ran off screaming, 'There's a lion in that house,'" she said.

When Lori arrived home that day she was met by a crowd of spectators and an irate landlord who ordered her to move. It was then the Polizzanos learned about the wild animal law prohibiting such animals as pets in New York City.

Rather than give up the 8-month-old cat they moved to another basement in the home of a friend in Selden far outside the city limits on Long Island.

Police already have called on Lori in answer to complaints by neighbors, but Lori is adamant—the cat stays.

Now the house where the Polizzanos are staying is up for sale and Lori reluctantly has advertised the puma for sale for $700.

Columbus Riot Cost $500,000, Officials Report

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Racial rioting on Columbus' East Side July 21 cost taxpayers and private businesses nearly $500,000, officials reported Tuesday.

City officials said overtime salaries to police and firemen will amount to about $152,000.

Pay for the 1,300 National Guardsmen called up totaled about $60,000, according to Adj. Gen. Sylvester T. Del Corso. The state will absorb those costs.

Police officials estimate the loss to businesses burned and looted in the riot area will easily reach $250,000. One supermarket destroyed sustained a loss of $100,000.

Muskie Won't Discount Kennedy

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, often pointed to as a potential Democratic presidential contender in 1972, says it would be premature to discount Edward M. Kennedy's political future.

"I would never count a Kennedy out of anything," said the Maine Democrat, whose 1968 vice presidential campaign made him a possible future White House contender.

"I wouldn't operate on the assumption that Ted Kennedy's troubles—and I suppose he has troubles—would be of any political advantage to me," Muskie said of the accident in which a girl riding in Kennedy's car was killed.

"I wish him well in every way," Muskie said. "If his political posture has not been weakened, I would be delighted."

Until the accident a week-and-a-half ago, Kennedy was thought the front runner for the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination. But the incident, particularly Kennedy's failure to report the accident to police for more than eight hours, caused speculation that his chances have been greatly reduced.

Muskie acknowledged he had felt after a recently completed six months of transcontinental speaking that Kennedy could have the 1972 nomination for the asking.

He said the accident controversy may have brought about "an unfortunate shift in his fortunes" but that it would be premature to make any such judgment now.

"It is an unmeasurable thing at this moment," Muskie said. "The continuing tragedy and continuing phenomena of the Kennedy family does not lend itself to common measurement."

Kennedy has not appeared in the Senate since July 18 when Miss Mary Jo Kopechne drowned after a car the senator was driving plunged off a bridge. Kennedy later delivered a television message asking the people of Massachusetts to help him decide whether to keep his Senate seat.

Richard C. Drayne, Kennedy's press secretary, told reporters Tuesday his boss is undecided "whether or when" to return to the Senate.

"He has not reached any kind of a decision," said Drayne.

The Boston Globe reported Tuesday in a copyrighted story that a telephone poll of 517 Massachusetts voters showed 78 per cent favored Kennedy remaining in his seat.

The first support voiced for Kennedy from the Senate floor came Tuesday from Sens. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., and Claiborne Pell, D-R.I.

Ribicoff praised Kennedy as "an outstanding senator," and said he is an effective majority whip.

"I would add that the sooner he returns the better off I think we are," said Pell.

'Model Pair' Are Caught With Stamps

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A Mentor couple has been charged with receiving $22,320 worth of stamps stolen from the Bowling Green Post Office over the weekend and federal officials said they might be "possible kingpins" in a large-scale Post Office burglary and fencing operation.

Charged Tuesday were Hy Brown and his wife Freda, both 53. They were arrested Monday night outside their Painesville coin and stamp store, postal authorities said, as they loaded boxes of the stolen stamps into the trunk of their car.

A Warren man, James M. Cononico, 38, was arrested Tuesday and charged with the July 18 Bucyrus Post Office robbery.

Postal authorities were investigating the possibility of a link between the robberies.

The Browns, described by neighbors as "model citizens," were arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Clifford E. Bruce and released on $5,000 bond.

If convicted, maximum penalty is 10 years in prison, $10,000 in fines or both.

College Teacher Working Because Dad Wants Her To

By STRATTON DOUTHAT
Associated Press Writer

MIAMI (AP) — Like hundreds of other college teachers, Edith Stern has a summer job. Unlike the others, however, she's working because her father got tired of having her loiter about the house.

She's only 16. "I spent the first couple of weeks of the summer doing nothing... just reading and relaxing," said Edith, a plump brunette. "But my father decided I had loafed long enough."

So in late June she went to work for IBM and currently is steeping herself in computer logic and language.

"Space technology is closely tied with computers and that's one big reason I'm so interested in this field. I'm a real science fiction nut," she said.

Edith, a recognized genius, graduated from college last summer—seven years early. She spent last winter teaching basic college algebra and trigonometry at Michigan State University and working part-time on her master's degree in math.

When she began teaching last fall, Edith was the youngest college instructor in the nation.

"I was scared to death that first day," she recalled. "I was petrified. I'd never lectured to a class before. But really there's nothing to it—after the first day."

She has mixed emotions about teaching. "One can lose one's temper with those students who refuse to understand, won't do their home work and so forth," she said. "But it's also a good feeling to see the students who worked so hard finally pull through."

Edith said she had no real discipline problems. "I found a cold look and a simple statement of authority could handle it," she explained.

Several students, upon learning her age, tried to "snow me," she said, "but I quickly put that down."

Poultry Show Results Told

Paul Dawson, chairman of the 1969 Pickaway County Fair's Poultry Show, announced the winners in that division Tuesday.

Paul Fleming of Orient won a trophy for displaying the grand champion chicken of the show.

Fleming also won a rosette for the grand champion bantam, entering a White Crystal Polish. Esthel Salyers of New Holland won a trophy for entering the grand champion rabbit, a White Brick.

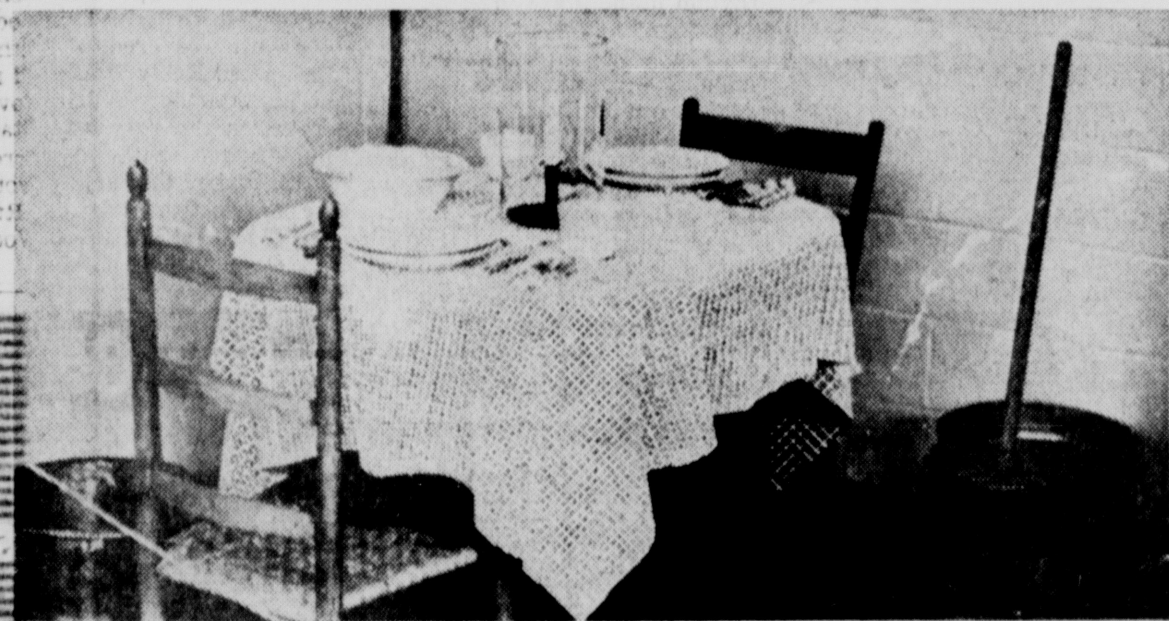

Salyers also received a trophy for the grand champion pair of pigeons with black Moderns.

E. E. Baird of Five Points won a trophy for grand champion duck. He submitted a white Indian Runner Drake.

Baird copped a rosette for grand champion goose with an old white Chinese Gander.

Becky Ward of Ashville won a trophy donated by Bob and Paul Fleming to the best chicken shown by a juvenile under 16 years of age.

The first American sturgeon fishery was established in New England in 1628.

Pet Puma Causes Problems To City Basement Dwellers

SELDEN, N.Y. (AP) — Owning a pet puma in a basement apartment of a metropolitan area can present numerous problems—including an eviction notice.

Mrs. Lori Polizzano, 18, a petite 112-pound housewife, owns such an animal, a feline that grows to be 6 feet long and weighs around 150 pounds.

"Everything was okay until the landlord asked us to move," Lori said, recalling the Brooklyn basement apartment to which she first brought the auburn-colored cat.

"Puss Puss" was sunbathing on a window sill, she explained, when the gardeners spotted the cat.

"They ran off screaming, 'There's a lion in that house,'" she said.

When Lori arrived home that day she was met by a crowd of spectators and an irate landlord who ordered her to move. It was then the Polizzanos learned about the wild animal law prohibiting such animals as pets in New York City.

Rather than give up the 8-month-old cat they moved to another basement in the home of a friend in Selden far outside the city limits on Long Island.

Police already have called on Lori in answer to complaints by neighbors, but Lori is adamant—the cat stays.

Now the house where the Polizzanos are staying is up for sale and Lori reluctantly has advertised the puma for sale for $700.

Columbus Riot Cost $500,000, Officials Report

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Racial rioting on Columbus East Side July 21 cost taxpayers and private businesses nearly $500,000, officials reported Tuesday.

City officials said overtime salaries to police and firemen will amount to about $155,000. Pay for the 1,300 National Guardsmen called up totaled about $60,000, according to Adj. Gen. Sylvester T. Del Corso. The state will absorb those costs.

Police officials estimate the loss to businesses burned and looted in the riot area will easily reach $250,000. One supermarket destroyed sustained a loss of $100,000.

Muskie Won't Discount Kennedy

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, often pointed to as a potential Democratic presidential contender in 1972, says it would be premature to discount Edward M. Kennedy's political future.

"I would never count a Kennedy out of anything," said the Maine Democrat, whose 1968 vice presidential campaign made him a possible future White House contender.

"I wouldn't operate on the assumption that Ted Kennedy's troubles—and I suppose he has troubles—would be of any political advantage to me," Muskie said of the accident in which a girl riding in Kennedy's car was killed.

"I wish him well in every way," Muskie said. "If his political posture has not been weakened, I would be delighted."

Until the accident a week-and-a-half ago, Kennedy was thought the front runner for the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination. But the incident, particularly Kennedy's failure to report the accident to police for more than eight hours, caused speculation that his chances have been greatly reduced.

Muskie acknowledged he had felt after a recently completed six months of transcontinental speaking that Kennedy could have the 1972 nomination for the asking.

He said the accident controversy may have brought about "an unfortunate shift in his fortunes" but that it would be premature to make any such judgment now.

"It is an unmeasurable thing at this moment," Muskie said. "The continuing tragedy and continuing phenomena of the Kennedy family does not lend itself to common measurement."

Kennedy has not appeared in the Senate since July 18 when Miss Mary Jo Kopechne drowned after a car the senator was driving plunged off a bridge. Kennedy later delivered a television message asking the people of Massachusetts to help him decide whether to keep his Senate seat.

Richard C. Drayne, Kennedy's press secretary, told reporters Tuesday his boss is undecided "whether or when" to return to the Senate.

"He has not reached any kind of a decision," said Drayne. The Boston Globe reported Tuesday in a copyrighted story that a telephone poll of 517 Massachusetts voters showed 78 per cent favored Kennedy remaining in his seat.

The first support voiced for Kennedy from the Senate floor came Tuesday from Sens. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., and Claiborne Pell, D-R.I.

Ribicoff praised Kennedy as "an outstanding senator," and said he is an effective majority whip.

"I would add that the sooner he returns the better off I think we are," said Pell.

'Model Pair' Are Caught With Stamps

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A Mentor couple has been charged with receiving $22,320 worth of stamps stolen from the Bowling Green Post Office over the weekend and federal officials said they might be "possible kingpins" in a large-scale Post Office burglary and fencing operation.

Charged Tuesday were Hy Brown and his wife Freda, both 53. They were arrested Monday night outside their Painesville coin and stamp store, postal authorities said, as they loaded boxes of the stolen stamps into the trunk of their car.

A Warren man, James M. Cononico, 38, was arrested Tuesday and charged with the July 18 Bucyrus Post Office robbery.

Postal authorities were investigating the possibility of a link between the robberies.

The Browns, described by neighbors as "model citizens," were arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Clifford E. Bruce and released on $5,000 bond.

If convicted, maximum penalty is 10 years in prison, $10,000 in fines or both.

College Teacher Working Because Dad Wants Her To

By STRATTON DOUTHAT
Associated Press Writer

MIAMI (AP) — Like hundreds of other college teachers, Edith Stern has a summer job. Unlike the others, however, she's working because her father got tired of having her loll about the house.

She's only 16.

"I spent the first couple of weeks of the summer doing nothing . . . just reading and relaxing," said Edith, a plump brunette. "But my father decided I had loafed long enough."

So in late June she went to work for IBM and currently is steeping herself in computer logic and language.

"Space technology is closely tied with computers and that's one big reason I'm so interested in this field. I'm a real science fiction nut," she said.

Edith, a recognized genius, graduated from college last summer—seven years early. She spent last winter teaching basic college algebra and trigonometry at Michigan State University and working part-time on her master's degree in math.

When she began teaching last fall, Edith was the youngest college instructor in the nation. "I was scared to death that first day," she recalled. "I was petrified. I'd never lectured to a class before. But really there's nothing to it—after the first day."

She has mixed emotions about teaching.

"One can lose one's temper with those students who refuse to understand, won't do their home work and so forth," she said. "But it's also a good feeling to see the students who worked so hard finally pull through."

Edith said she had no real discipline problems. "I found a cold look and a simple statement of authority could handle it," she explained.

Several students, upon learning her age, tried to "snow me," she said, "but I quickly put that down."

Poultry Show Results Told

Paul Dawson, chairman of the 1969 Pickaway County Fair's Poultry Show, announced the winners in that division Tuesday.

Paul Fleming of Orient won a trophy for displaying the grand champion chicken of the show.

Fleming also won a rosette for the grand champion bantam, entering a White Crystal Polish.

Esther Salyers of New Holland won a trophy for entering the grand champion rabbit, a White Brick.

Salyers also received a trophy for the grand champion pair of pigeons with black Moderns.

E. E. Baird of Five Points won a trophy for grand champion duck. He submitted a white Indian Runner Drake.

Baird copped a rosette for grand champion goose with an old white Chinese Gander.

Becky Ward of Ashville won a trophy donated by Bob and Paul Fleming to the best chicken shown by a juvenile under 16 years of age.

The first American sturgeon fishery was established in New England in 1628.

Minnesota Batter Detroit Tigers In Twinbill, 5-2, 11-5

By DICK COUCH
Tangling with a pneumonia bug and the Minnesota Twins on the same day can bring the toughest Tiger to his knees. Denny McLain isn't even certain which hits harder.
McLain was sent home from Minnesota Tuesday night ... with a touch of pneumonia, according to a team spokesman ... after being shelled for nine runs in 4-13 innings as the Twins completed a 5-2, 11-5 doubleheader sweep over the Detroit Tigers.
Dr. Len Michienzi, a Minnesota club physician who examined McLain, prescribed rest for the Tigers' 15-game winner, who was running a high fever.

"I haven't felt very good for three, four days and knew something was wrong," McLain said before leaving for Detroit. "But this isn't an alibi for losing. I had pretty good stuff, but every ball they hit was a shot."
The Twins cuffed McLain, 15-6, for 11 of his 17 hits in the nightcap after prevailing over 14-game winner Mickey Lolich in the first game. They hadn't beaten either of the Detroit aces since the 1967 season.
Elsewhere in the American League, Oakland nipped the New York Yankees 6-5, Baltimore downed Kansas City 4-1, California topped Boston 4-3, Washington trimmed Seattle 4-2 and Cleveland won a pair from the Chicago White Sox, 4-3 in 11 innings and 9-5.
McLain, won 31 games last season and has sparked again this year despite arm trouble and dental problems. "I was 'quite ill' before the Tigers left Detroit Monday, his business partner, Stan Drall, said Tuesday night.
"McLain's no baby about pain, though," Drall added. "I wouldn't be at all surprised if he takes his next regular turn."
The Twins, beaten eight times in succession by the 25-year-old right-hander, raked him for seven runs in the fifth inning. Tony Oliva's two-run tape-measure homer keying the uprising. Rod Carew stroked two singles in the inning and Leo Cardenas and Ted Uhlaender each drove in two runs.
In the opener, Lolich worked seven innings and allowed just five hits. But one of them was a two-run double by Oliva and another was a two-run homer by other was a two-run homer by Carew ... the first home run off the Detroit southpaw this season.

Jim Perry blanked the Tigers until the ninth, extending his scoreless string to 23-23 innings, and picked up his 12th victory against four setbacks.
Pinch hitter Ramon Webster's two-run triple and Bob Johnson's pinch single in the eighth gave the Athletics a 6-4 lead before relievers Paul Lindblad and Ed Sprague snuffed out a ninth inning New York rally, stranding the tying run on third.
Reggie Jackson slammed his 40th homer for the A's and the Yankees' Joe Pepitone drove in three runs with a single and his 20th homer.

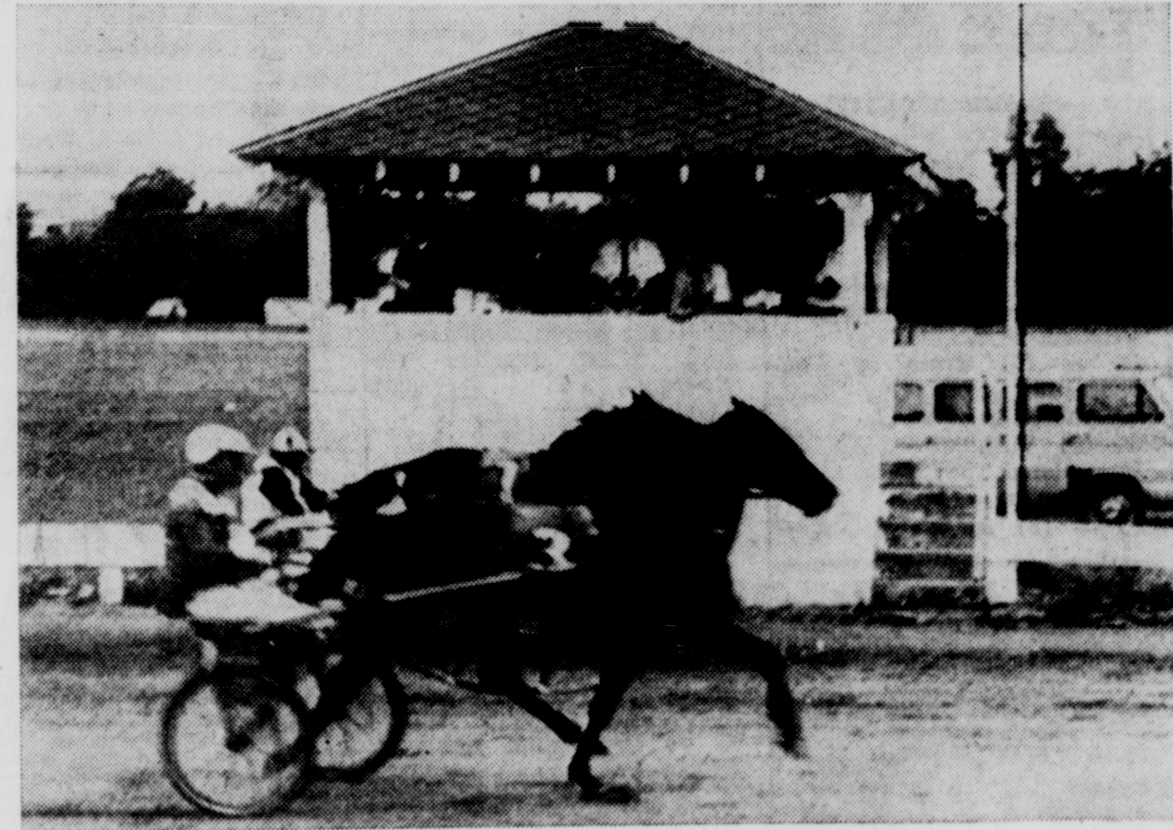

The Orioles breezed to their fifth consecutive victory since the All-Star break as left-hander Mike Cuellar scattered eight Kansas City hits. Paul Blair drove in two runs with a double and single and Boog Powell poked his 28th homer.
Jay Johnston cracked a lead-off homer in the bottom of the ninth, sending the Angels past

Boston and out of the West cellar for the first time since May 9.
The Senators snapped a 2-2 tie at Seattle on successive eighth inning homers by Ken McMullen and Bernie Allen, enabling right-hander Joe Coleman to square his season mark at 8-8.
Duke Sims drilled a game-winning homer in the 11th inning of the Cleveland - Chicago opener and the Indians exploded for six runs in the seventh inning of the nightcap, Eddie Leocap the burst with a three-run homer.

The White Sox, who have lost seven in a row, slipped into last place in the West, one-half game behind California.

FIRST TURN PILE-UP — The second heat of the second division of the first race at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds Tuesday was marred by a two-sulky accident. No one was injured in the mishap, although both drivers and horses were sent sprawling. Tom Ebenback was headed for the rail when he was struck by Success B, reined by Ed Broliier, who also crashed to the turf.

Harness racing fans at the Pickaway County Fair watched 10 well filled heats of racing Tuesday during the first afternoon speed program.
The second division of the first race was marred by a wreck when Ed Broliier, driving Success B and Tommy Ebenback, driving Martha Catherine, went down in the first turn.
Both horses and drivers were uninjured in the collision, and Broliier brought Success B back for the second heat of the race, although Ebenback scratched Martha Catherine.
J One, owned by Gene Young of Circleville and Loyd Williams of Lancaster and driven by Young, won both heats of the first division of the first race.
CIRCLE Bess, owned by Ernest Martin of Circleville and driven by Harry Richardson of Chillicothe, was first under the wire in the initial trip of the second division while Butter's Miss with Terry Holton up, captured the second.

In the third division Double Ohio, owned by W. J. and W. H. Nulman of Coshocton and driven by Jack Morgan, won both heats.
Winning both heats of the second race, a conditioned pace for non winners of $1,500 in 1968, was Veldah Way, driven by Frances Rowe and owned by Heber and Veldah C. Roe of Washington C. H.
J. T. Lind, owned by Delbert and Terry Newman and driven by Terry Newman won the first heat of the third race, a conditioned trot for non winners of $1,000 in 1968, and Mi Chuck, owned and driven by Arthur Ewing of Cardington won the second.
J One paced very similar miles in winning the first division. On top all the way in the first trip, he was at the quarter in :33.1, the half in 1:05.3 and at the three-quarter pole in 1:40. Time of the first heat was 2:13. Finishing second in the heat was Darn Well, owned by Ervin Pulse and Douglas McLaughlin of Greenfield and driven by Hugh Beatty.

Quarter times in the second heat were :33.3, 1:08 and 1:42.2. The winning time was 2:14. Darn Well was again second while Spruce Rodney, owned by Lester Marshall of Marietta and driven by Lou Pugh was third in the first heat and fourth in the second. Pride In Law had finished fourth in the first heat and moved up to third in the second.

Westchester Golf Classic Set

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — The pro golfers go after the tour's richest purse—$250,000—Thursday in the Westchester Classic, and one of the game's leading figures says they haven't yet touched the mother lode.
"Some day—not so far away—a man will come to the 72nd hole and line up a putt worth a cool million dollars," predicted Fred Corcoran, the tournament director.
"Twenty-five years ago I said golfers on the tour would some day be playing for a million dollars a year. Most people thought I was crazy. They said it was a pipe-dream.
"Now they are playing for more than $6 million, and the end of the rainbow isn't in sight. I can foresee the day that rich sponsors and the television networks will get together for a tournament that could stagger the imagination.

"The first prize could be a million dollars."
Corcoran, a bull-necked Boston Irishman who was tournament director of the Professional Golfers Association in the late 1930s and 1940s, is credited with putting the tour on its present spiral course.
"In 1937, the total purse for 30 tournaments was $140,000," Corcoran said. "Lighthouse Harry Cooper was leading money winner that year with $14,200.
"Fellows today wouldn't sneeze for that kind of money."
Right now, the golfing gypsies must be content to play for Westchester's $250,000, with $50,000 going to the winner. "I think I've found my choking price," millionaire Arnold Palmer once said as he took aim at the rich prize.
Palmer, without a victory this year, will be one of the 150 players teeing off Thursday morning over the 6,667-yard, par-72 Westchester Country Club course.
It's one of the season's most illustrious fields, including defending champion Julius Boros; the 1967 victor, Jack Nicklaus; U.S. Open titleholder Orville Moody; Masters champion George Archer; the new British Open king, young Tony Jacklin of England, and Monday's Canadian victor, Tommy Aaron.
Present and bidding for the $50,000 windfall are all the winners on the 1969 PGA program. Center of attention will be Dave Hill, who has jumped into the money winning lead, and Sam Snead, the 57-year-old star of a bygone era who tied for the Canadian title only to lose to Aaron in a playoff.

Favor Jets By 2 TDs On Friday

CHICAGO (AP) — The betting gentry warily is making the New York Jets little more than an early two-touchdown favorite over the collegians in the 36th All-Star Football Game at Soldier Field Friday night.
The Jets, propelled by Super Bowl hero Joe Namath, could win going away in the first appearance by an American Football League club in the colorful classic long dominated by champions of the National Football League.
But a certain mystery hovers over All-Star Coach Otto Graham's All-Star squad which has been drilling at Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill., since July 11. Thus, one early line here has the Jets pegged as 13-point favorite.
The NFL holds a 24-9-2 edge in the All-Star series.
Graham has assembled a 50-player squad without such bickering top pro draftees as O. J. Simpson of Southern California, Leroy Keyes of Purdue, Joe Greene, heralded defensive tackle from North Texas State; split end Ron Sellers of Florida State, and tight end Ted Kwalick of Penn State.
The odds-makers are uncertain whether a collegiate squad, still packed with 17 of pro football's 26 first-round draft choices, can come up with more voltage than the Jets expect.

tor remarked after the game. "Matter of fact, it might have been the only time I haven't gone to it this season."
It was the first complete game by a Red starter since July 8. And only the 13th complete game by the Cincinnati staff. Merritt owns five of them as he upped his record to 10-4.
The Expos tagged Merritt for three of their hits in the fourth inning with Jose Herrera's double getting in both Montreal runs. The Reds had taken a 2-0 lead on Chico Ruiz' two-run single in the single.
The Braves had Phil Niekro lose what appeared to be an easy victory, which would have given him 16; Hank Aaron miss "Did you notice I didn't go to the mound at all tonight," Bristol commented. "Matter of fact, it might have been the only time I haven't gone to it this season."
Bristol's not leaving the dugout meant that Jim Merritt had little trouble restraining the Montreal Expos as he Reds eked out a 4-2 victory. Merritt went the distance for the fifth time and chalked up the Reds 13th complete game—their first since July 8.
"I felt good all the way, although I was a little off my rhythm in the first two innings," said Merritt, who upped his record to 10-4. "After the third inning, I commenced hitting spots with the ball."
The Expos tagged Merritt for their two runs in the fourth inning on three hits with Jose Herrera registering two runs batted in on a single. Merritt held the Expos to one hit the rest of the way. He retired the first nine men of the game.
"I used a curve and a slider and I got hurt on a curve when Montreal scored in the fourth," Merritt added.

Merritt Says His Pitches Right On; Bristol Agrees

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Manager Dave Bristol enjoyed a rare game Tuesday night — he did not leave the dugout the entire contest.

give Cincinnati a 3-2 edge. Ruiz had singled to lead off the inning and knocked in the Reds first two runs with a single in the second.
Montreal Manager Gene Mauch was not too disappointed about the loss but said that "A little better defense, I believe, would have given us tonight's game 2-1."
While making the comment, he referred to Cincinnati's two-run second when John Bench walked with two outs and Woody Woodward was credited with a single when Rusty Staub did not field his grounder. Bench moved to third on the play and Staub was charged with an error. Mauch implied that an out would have saved two runs as Ruiz delivered his single after Woodward stole second.

Few Surpass Superstar Hank Aaron

ATLANTA (AP) — Hank Aaron is a baseball superstar who doesn't act like one.
No tantrums for the "Hammer." No controversies. No way-out clothes or worn-out cliches.
No feuds with newsmen or fights with fans.
"That's not my style," says Aaron, who plays the game with a style all his own.
Graceful is the best way to describe the Atlanta Braves' slugger, who has been playing that way in the big leagues for 16 seasons.
And the way he's going this summer, he may be able to go on forever.
At the ripe old age of 35, Aaron is having one of his finest seasons.

He has hit more home runs than all but Willie Mays and Babe Ruth, has the best lifetime batting average at .314 of anyone now playing, and ranks as one of the best outfielders in baseball history.
Aaron's name is in nearly every record book, but it came up missing last week on the all-time and modern baseball teams picked by fans.
Aaron, quietly proud of his baseball accomplishments, didn't complain. Some of his fans did.
"There's no way you can name an all-star team for any era and leave Aaron off of it," said Fred Haney, who watched Aaron hit three home runs, bat .393 and drive in seven runs when Haney managed the Milwaukee Braves to victory over the New York Yankees in the 1957 World Series.

Aaron was named the National League's Most Valuable Player in 1957. He has played in the All-Star games 15 straight years, led the league in batting twice, set the pace in runs batted in four times, and led in homers four times.
Critics claim Aaron lacks the exciting flair of a Mays or a Mickey Mantle.
"I can't make basket catches or do things like that," says Aaron, whose defensive play is so fluid that he makes impossible catches look easy.

He wastes no motion in the field but has one of the best throwing arms in the game. He's also one of the game's top baserunners, and usually leads the Braves in stolen bases. He's swiped 222 during his career.
Aaron keeps hinting that he is close to retirement as he moves nearer his goal of 3,000 hits.
"That's 99 left and counting," Aaron said after pushing his hit total to 2,901 with a double and the 536th home run of his career last week.
But he doesn't seem to be slowing down, and former teammates can't see much difference in the way he plays now than when he broke in as a rookie in 1954.

Minnesota Batter Detroit Tigers In Twinbill, 5-2, 11-5

By DICK COUCH
Tangling with a pneumonia bug and the Minnesota Twins on the same day can bring the toughest Tiger to his knees. Denny McLain isn't even certain which hits harder.
McLain was sent home from Minnesota Tuesday night ... with a touch of pneumonia, according to a team spokesman ... after being shelled for nine runs in 4-1-3 innings as the Twins completed a 5-2, 11-5 doubleheader sweep over the Detroit Tigers.
Dr. Len Michienzi, a Minnesota club physician who examined McLain, prescribed rest for the Tigers' 15-game winner, who was running a high fever.
"I haven't felt very good for three, four days and knew something was wrong," McLain said before leaving for Detroit. "But this isn't an alibi for losing. I had pretty good stuff, but every ball they hit was a shot."
The Twins cuffed McLain, 15-6, for 11 of their 17 hits in the nightcap after prevailing over 14-game winner Mickey Lolich in the first game. They hadn't beaten either of the Detroit aces since the 1967 season.
Elsewhere in the American League, Oakland nipped the New York Yankees 6-5. Baltimore downed Kansas City 4-1. California topped Boston 4-3. Washington trimmed Seattle 4-2 and Cleveland won a pair from the Chicago White Sox, 4-3 in 11 innings and 9-5.
McLain won 31 games last season and has sparked again this year despite arm trouble and dental problems. He was "quite ill" before the Tigers left Detroit Monday, his business partner, Stan Drall, said Tuesday night.
"McLain's no baby about pain, though," Drall added. "I wouldn't be at all surprised if he takes his next regular turn."
The Twins, beaten eight times in succession by the 25-year-old right-hander, raked him for seven runs in the fifth inning. Tony Oliva's two-run tape-measure homer keying the uprising. Rod Carew stroked two singles in the inning and Leo Cardenas and Ted Uhlaender each drove in two runs.
In the opener, Lolich worked seven innings and allowed just five hits. But one of them was a two-run double by Oliva and another was a two-run homer by Carew ... the first home run off the Detroit southpaw this season.
Jim Perry blanked the Tigers until the ninth, extending his scoreless string to 22-2-3 innings, and picked up his 12th victory against four setbacks.
Pinch hitter Ramon Webster's two-run triple and Bob Johnson's pinch single in the eighth gave the Athletics a 6-4 lead before relievers Paul Lindblad and Ed Sprague snuffed out a ninth inning New York rally, stranding the tying run on third.
Reggie Jackson slammed his 40th homer for the A's and the Yankees' Joe Pepitone drove in three runs with a single and his 20th homer.
The Orioles breezed to their fifth consecutive victory since the All-Star break as left-hander Mike Cuellar scattered eight Kansas City hits. Paul Blair drove in two runs with a double and single and Boog Powell poked his 28th homer.
Jay Johnstone cracked a lead-off homer in the bottom of the ninth, sending the Angels past Boston and out of the West cellar for the first time since May 9.
The Senators snapped a 2-2 tie at Seattle on successive eighth inning homers by Ken McMullen and Bernie Allen, enabling right-hander Joe Coleman to square his season mark at 8-8.
Duke Sims drilled a game-winning homer in the 11th inning of the Cleveland - Chicago opener and the Indians exploded for six runs in the seventh inning of the nightcap. Eddie Leocapting the burst with a three-run homer.
The White Sox, who have lost seven in a row, slipped into last place in the West, one-half game behind California.

FIRST TURN PILE-UP — The second heat of the second division of the first race at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds Tuesday was marred by a two-sulky accident. No one was injured in the mishap, although both drivers and horses were sent sprawling. Tom Ebenhack was headed for the rail when he was struck by Success B, reined by Ed Broilier, who also crashed to the turf.

Harness racing fans at the Pickaway County Fair watched 10 well filled heats of racing Tuesday during the first afternoon speed program.
The second division of the first race was marred by a wreck when Ed Broilier, driving Success Bee and Tommy Ebenhack, driving Martha Catherine, went down in the first turn.
Both horses and drivers were uninjured in the collision, and Broilier brought Success Bee back for the second heat of the race, although Ebenhack scratched Martha Catherine.
J One, owned by Gene Young of Circleville and Loyd Williams of Lancaster and driven by Young, won both heats of the first division of the first race.
CIRCLE Bess, owned by Ernest Martin of Circleville and driven by Harry Richardson of Chillicothe, was first under the wire in the initial trip of the second division while Butter's Miss with Terry Holton up, captured the second.
In the third division Double Ohio, owned by W. J. and W. H. Nulman of Coshocton and driven by Jack Morgan, won both heats.
Winning both heats of the second race, a conditioned pace for non winners of $1,500 in 1968, was Veldah Way, driven by Frances Rowe and owned by Heber and Veldah C. Roe of Washington C. H.
J. T. Lind, owned by Delbert and Terry Newman and driven by Terry Newman won the first heat of the third race, a conditioned trot for non winners of $1,000 in 1968, and Mi Chuck, owned and driven by Arthur Ewing of Cardington won the second.
J One paced very similar miles in winning the first division. On top all the way in

Few Surpass Superstar Hank Aaron

ATLANTA (AP) — Hank Aaron is a baseball superstar who doesn't act like one.
No tantrums for the "Hammer." No controversies. No way-out clothes or worn-out cliches.
No feuds with newsmen or fights with fans.
"That's not my style," says Aaron, who plays the game with a style all his own.
Graceful is the best way to describe the Atlanta Braves' slugger, who has been playing that way in the big leagues for 16 seasons.
And the way he's going this summer, he may be able to go on forever.
At the ripe old age of 35, Aaron is having one of his finest seasons.
He has hit more home runs than all but Willie Mays and Babe Ruth, has the best lifetime batting average at .314 of anyone now playing, and ranks as one of the best outfielders in baseball history.
Aaron's name is in nearly every record book, but it came up missing last week on the all-time and modern baseball teams picked by fans.
Aaron, quietly proud of his baseball accomplishments, didn't complain. Some of his fans did.
"There's no way you can name an all-star team for any era and leave Aaron off of it," said Fred Haney, who watched Aaron hit three home runs, bat .393 and drive in seven runs when Haney managed the Milwaukee Braves to victory over the New York Yankees in the 1957 World Series.
Aaron was named the National League's Most Valuable Player in 1957. He has played in the All-Star games 15 straight years, led the league in batting twice, set the pace in runs batted in four times, and led in homers four times.
Critics claim Aaron lacks the exciting flair of a Mays or a Mickey Mantle.
"I can't make basket catches or do things like that," says Aaron, whose defensive play is so fluid that he makes impossible catches look easy.
He wastes no motion in the field but has one of the best throwing arms in the game. He's also one of the game's top baserunners, and usually leads the Braves in stolen bases. He's swiped 222 during his career.
Aaron keeps hinting that he is close to retirement as he moves nearer his goal of 3,000 hits.
"That's 99 left and counting," Aaron said after pushing his hit total to 2,901 with a double and the 536th home run of his career last week.
But he doesn't seem to be slowing down, and former teammates can't see much difference in the way he plays now than when he broke in a rookie in 1954.

Cincinnati Reds Defeat Montreal Expos, 4-2

By TOM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer
For the first time in three weeks a Cincinnati Reds pitcher didn't leave for an early shower ... the same couldn't be said for the thunder in the Atlanta Braves bats.
The Reds edged to within three games of the Braves in the red-hot scramble for the top spot in the West Division of the National League with a 4-2 victory over Montreal Tuesday night behind the steady four-hit pitching of left-hander Jim Merritt.
San Francisco stopped Chicago 4-2 in the only afternoon contest while the Los Angeles Dodgers split a two-night doubleheader with the Pittsburgh Pirates, losing 4-2 in 10 innings before taking the nightcap 6-5.
The Giants are two games behind the Braves while the Dodgers are a game back.
St. Louis blasted San Diego 10-4 and the Houston at New York two-nighter was rained out.
The Braves lost a chance to gain ground when they exploded for seven runs in the second inning and were leading 8-0 after three innings over the Phillies in Philadelphia when the rains came. After a wait of 52 minutes, the umpires postponed the two-night twin bill and the Braves avalanche of base hits was washed out.
In Cincinnati, however, Reds Manager Dave Bristol didn't mind his lack of a shower until after the game.
"Did you notice I didn't go to the mound at all tonight," Bristol remarked after the game.
"Matter of fact, it might have been the only time I haven't gone to it this season."
It was the first complete game by a Red starter since July 8. And only the 13th complete game by the Cincinnati staff. Merritt owns five of them as he upped his record to 10-4.
The Expos tagged Merritt for three of their hits in the fourth inning with Jose Herrera's double getting in both Montreal runs. The Reds had taken a 2-0 lead on Chico Ruiz' two-run single in the single.
The Braves had Phil Niekro lose what appeared to be an easy victory, which would have given him 16; Hank Aaron miss ed out on two doubles; Orlando Cepeda lost three RBI's and two singles; Tony Gonzalez saw his two RBI and single go down the drain; and Philadelphia fans saw Richie Allen, in his first appearance before the home crowd after a 26-day suspension. Allen, the Phils first baseman, was showered with a chorus of boos and he responded by blowing kisses toward the stands.

Willie Mays tripled home the tie-breaking run in the seventh and Willie McCovey, who earlier cracked his 32nd homer, scored Mays with a sacrifice fly in leading the Giants over the Cubs. Jim Hickman had a solo homer for Chicago.
Tom Hutton cracked a two-run single, highlighting a four-run sixth inning rally, helping the Dodgers to their second game victory over the Pirates after Willie Stargell's two-run 10th-inning homer had given Pittsburgh the first game.

With reserve catcher Dave Ricketts, making his fourth start in three years, knocking in three runs, including the tie-breaker in a seven-run seventh inning, the Cards got to within nine games of the Cubs in the East Division with their victory over the Padres.
The streaking Cards, winning for the fifth time in six outings, and for the 17th time in 22 games, were 15½ games behind Chicago on July 4.

Westchester Golf Classic Set

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — The pro golfers go after the tour's richest purse—$250,000—Thursday in the Westchester Classic, and one of the game's leading figures says they haven't yet touched the mother lode.
"Some day—not so far away—a man will come to the 72nd hole and line up a putt worth a cool million dollars," predicted Fred Corcoran, the tournament director.
"Twenty-five years ago I said golfers on the tour would some day be playing for a million dollars a year. Most people thought I was crazy. They said it was a pipe-dream.
"Now they are playing for more than $6 million, and the

Merritt Says His Pitches Right On; Bristol Agrees

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Manager Dave Bristol enjoyed a rare game Tuesday night -- he did not leave the dugout the entire contest.
"Did you notice I didn't go to the mound at all tonight," Bristol commented. "Matter of fact, it might have been the only time I haven't gone to it this season."

give Cincinnati a 3-2 edge. Ruiz had singled to lead off the inning and knocked in the Reds first two runs with a single in the second.
Montreal Manager Gene Mauch was not too disappointed about the loss but said that "A little better defense, I believe, would have given us tonight's game 2-1."

Tribe Wins 1st Twinbill This Season

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland Indians catcher Duke Sims got what he considered a "lucky" hit and it started the Chicago White Sox on the road to a doubleheader loss and last place in the American League's West Division Tuesday night.
Sims led off the 11th inning of the opener with the score tied 3-3 and relief pitcher Cisco Carrlos (4-3) worked the count to three balls, one strike.
"I was on top of him and he had to throw a strike," Sims said. "He didn't want to walk me. A sacrifice and a hit and the game's over. I hit a low fast ball. I wasn't guessing but thought that was what he would throw. If he had a little better control of his breaking ball, he might have gambled. I was just lucky."

While making the comment, he referred to Cincinnati's two-run second when John Bench walked with two outs and Woody Woodward was credited with a single when Rusty Staub did not field his grounder. Bench moved to third on the play and Staub was charged with an error. Mauch implied that an out would have saved two runs as Ruiz delivered his single after Woodward stole second.

Favor Jets By 2 TDs On Friday

CHICAGO (AP) — The betting gentry warily is making the New York Jets little more than an early two-touchdown favorite over the collegians in the 36th All-Star Football Game at Soldier Field Friday night.
The Jets, propelled by Super Bowl hero Joe Namath, could win going away in the first appearance by an American Football League club in the colorful classic long dominated by champions of the National Football League.
But a certain mystery hovers over All-Star Coach Otto Graham's All-Star squad which has been drilling at Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill., since July 11. Thus, one early line here has the Jets pegged as 13-point favorite.
The NFL holds a 24-9-2 edge in the All-Star series.
Graham has assembled a 50-player squad without such bickering top pro draftees as O. J. Simpson of Southern California, Leroy Keyes of Purdue, Joe Greene, heralded defensive tackle from North Texas State; split end Ron Sellers of Florida State, and tight end Ted Kwalick of Penn State.
The odds-makers are uncertain whether a collegiate squad, still packed with 17 of pro football's 26 first-round draft choices, can come up with more voltage than the Jets expect.

Catherine went down. Brolier reining Success Bee was right behind at the time and could not avoid going right over the top of the fallen horse. Success Bee went down and both drivers went sprawling to the track.

Fortunately, no one was hurt and the race continued while the drivers and handlers held the horses down along the rail.

The trophy blanket of the first race, presented by Kenny Hannan Ford, was won by Double Ohio, whose time of 2:11.4 in the first heat of the third division was the best.

Morgan brought Double Ohio back to win the second heat of the division in 2:14. Following Morgan under the finish wire in the first heat was True Irish.

Long Tom, owned by Larry Wise and Paul Woolson of Gambier and driven by Woolson was second in the first heat and Mi Chuck was third. In the second heat, J. T. Lind was second and Johnny Fisher, owned by William Neal and driven by Mike Neal, was third.

On the other side of Israel, the Syrian air force has some 150 to 200 jet fighters, most of them new, but Syrian pilots are considered decidedly second rate. The Jordanian air force of some 30 planes is considered of no military consequence.

Other Arab countries—Lebanon, Iraq and Saudi Arabia—do not figure importantly at this time in the air equation as it relates to the peace and war prospects in the Middle East.

The Israeli air force numbers some 285 fighters, light bombers, and fighter bombers, most of them of French manufacture. France refuses to ship replacement planes or additional planes to Israel.

But Israel is in the process of receiving 100 U.S. A4 Sky Hawk fighter bombers, and late this year the United States will start sending the first of 50 F4 Phantom jets, similar to the best fighters in the U.S. Air Force and Navy.

The Egyptians repositioned some 30 surface-to-air missile sites, mainly to defend Cairo and the Nile Delta, but also to screen approaches along the Suez Canal. Backing up these missile sites are some 30 improved radar installations.

Sources said the Egyptians counted on these defenses, plus better fighters to keep out air attackers, but the Israelis got through in the recent fighting.

Four Arrested For Entering Local Home

Four Michigan residents have been arrested by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department for entering a home south of Circleville on Route 23.

The four were identified as Gerald Keith Meyers, 14, Randall and James Szczesny and Barbara Lillian Szczesny.

According to the investigation of the entry by Deputy Sheriff Donald Thompson, the Meyers boy entered the home. He took $7.75 from a purse and was starting to leave when he was discovered by one of the occupants.

When she found that the money was taken from her purse, she called the boy back into the home and telephoned the sheriff.

Charges will be filed against the quartet pending completion of the investigation by the sheriff's department.

Blood Tests On Astronauts Show No Sign Of Disease

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Apollo 11 astronauts take further blood tests today for possible infection by unknown—and improbable—moon organisms.

Then, in their fourth day of isolation in the lunar receiving laboratory, they go before a closed-circuit television audience of space officials for a thorough review, lasting most of the day, of their lunar landing mission.

Previous blood tests on the men showed no ill effects or anything unusual, Dr. Carpenter said, but additional tests were needed to turn up possible early stage infection. A sign of this could be a rise in the count of white blood cells, which defend the body against harmful outside organisms.

The doctor added: "All our evidence to date shows there really is nothing there."

If the astronauts develop no illness that can be traced to the moon, the quarantine ends on Aug. 11. If an illness does develop, the quarantine could go on indefinitely.

The space agency announced that if all goes well the astronauts would make their first public appearance at a press conference planned for Aug. 12. They entered the lunar receiving laboratory last Sunday.

But while they're out of sight, they're not forgotten.

Space agency officials said the mailroom at the Manned Spacecraft Center was being swamped by letters and telegrams to the moonmen.

More than 4,000 letters were received on Monday alone and an official said the number grows daily. He said there was already about 12 cubic feet of letters from foreign countries and a collection of more than 1,000 telegrams.

He said the letters have not been opened and will not be seen by the astronauts until they leave quarantine.
